Retiring NSTL manager doubts benefit of Navy move

Retiring manager of National Space Technology Laboratories, Jackson Balch, expressed "serious misgivings" about the proposed move of 1200 Navy Oceanographic Office employees to the Hancock County site at a press conference called Wednesday to announce his retirement.

Balch said that the proposed Navy move is not the reason for his retirement, but Balch said he feared that the combination of a military research installation and environmental research groups presently at the site would result in friction.

"It was my own idea to have the Navy come to this site to set up its office, but it was my intention to have only a portion of the group established on this site and for the top secret part of the program to locate in facilities that are available in New Orleans east," Balch said. "But that was not to be the case, and in my own opinion the military cannot mix with the environmental research that is presently going on here at NSTL."

Balch said that he expected the Navy to decide in favor of the move within the week and to have 200 of the employees here by early fall. He said that the complete move would be stretched over several years and will occupy a new building on the site which is scheduled for completion in 1979.

"I feel that the Navy will be rather insensitive to some of the other activities that are presently going on at the site," he said. "It is already causing a lot of restlessness among the tenants here."

Balch said that plans are already underway to move 100 employees of the Earth Resources Administration from NSTL to offices in Houston.

The retiring manager said that his misgivings about the Navy move did not apply to the Army's proposed munitions plant at NSTL, because, he said, the army will occupy a 7,000 acre area of NSTL which was planned for large rocket testing but had never been used. He said the army would be an independent entity on the site and would not displace any present tenants.

"NSTL will remain the owners and managers of this site with the Navy and Army as tenants," Balch said. "But I feel that there will have to be a meeting of the three groups from the very beginning to establish the roles of each on the site."

In an initial statement to members of the press, Balch outlined some of the history of the NSTL site since he became manager in 1965 dwelling particularly on the changes occurring in 1970 when the federal government practically abandoned space research on the site.

"I just could not see how the federal government could walk away from this place like they did February 2, 1970," he said. "I consider it the height of irresponsibility on their part and I and several other NASA employees, at the risk of our own jobs, began to look for other utilization for this place."

Balch praised the local communities surrounding NSTL for their aid in the establishment of the facility here. He said that Hancock and Pearl River Counties in Mississippi and St. Tammany Parish in Louisiana had increased their bonding structures by $20 million at the request of NASA and had vastly improved public services at their own expense to accommodate the installation.

"When we moved to this site, it wasn't just a bunch of engineers and scientists, it was the people investing their money and talents that made the Apollo program here a success in those early years," he said.

In 1970 the Hancock County site dropped from an employment of over 3,000 people to a "caretaker level" of only 500 to 600. From this low level, the facility has built back up to about 1,250 employees when a combination of federal agencies doing environmental research moved to the site.

Balch pointed out that even though NSTL has less than half the people it started out with, that the quality of the employment at the facility had greatly increased. He said that of the 3,000 original employees only eight percent held degrees whereas of the 1,250 presently at the site, 41 percent hold degrees.

Final DuPont permit approved

Special to The Echo

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers will issue the final permit DuPont needs for its multi-million dollar titanium dioxide plant north of the Bay of St. Louis in DeLisle, said Mobile District Engineer Colonel Drake Wilson late last week.

The permit governs DuPont's plans to install a 24-inch outfall line in the Bay of St. Louis. Three other permits, two from state agencies and one from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) have already been issued to the chemical corporation for the proposed pigments plant.

In issuing the permit, the Corps turned down a request by an environmental group that called for a three-to-six month environmental impact study.

Save the Bay, Inc., a group of landowners seeking to block DuPont's locating north of the Bay, requested the study, saying that the impact study would not affect the plans of DuPont since the chemicals corporation was waiting for better economic conditions before beginning construction.

The Corps, however, said that it does not have jurisdiction on air quality or on the quality of the effluent. That responsibility, said a Corps spokesman, rests with the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission (MAWPCC) which has already granted its permit.

Save the Bay has filed a suit against MAWPCC charging that the state commission prejudged the permit application in favor of DuPont. An early court battle between the two sides at Harrison County Chancery Court has resulted in two of Save the Bay requests being overruled, including a request for an evidentiary hearing that would have allowed new testimony to be introduced.

In making its announcement, the Corps said that it "could find no justifiable reason to deny the permit following an environmental assessment and public hearings." The Corps action follows its June 19 public hearing at the Westside Community Center in Gulfport where both advocates and opponents of the plant presented evidence before Colonel Wilson and a technical advisor for the Corps.

The Corps permit governs the construction of an outfall line that will discharge effluent from the proposed plant. The Mississippi Marine Resources Council and the MAWPCC have both issued permits governing the quality of the waste discharged into the Bay. The Marine Resources Council also requires the DuPont Company to restore the marshland after installation of the line and beacon lights and conduct a comprehensive biological monitoring program.

The outfall will discharge about 2.1 million gallons of neutral salts into the Bay. Opponents to the plant site claim that the effluent will raise the salt level in the Bay, thus endangering the marine life. Opponents also claim that the deep well system, which will be used to dispose of chemicals such as arsenic, cyanide, mercury, and lead, will endanger the drinking water in the area.

The proposed plant, DuPont officials say, will employ about 600 workers.

Axe needed here

Bay St. Louis firemen used axes and crowbars Tuesday night to reach blazes at the home of Tony Benigno on Union Street. The fire which apparently broke out in the front of the house around 10:30 p.m. is under investigation. Benigno was injured at the time of the blaze.

Firemen contain Union Street blaze

Eight Bay St. Louis firemen Tuesday night contained a house fire to the front wall of a white frame house on Union Street in Bay St. Louis and put out the blaze within 18 minutes.

A Bay St. Louis resident reported the fire at the home of Tony Benigno at 10:35 p.m., said fire chief Robert Gervagne. No one was in the house at the time.

Gervagne said the fire was contained to the front wall of the house. The blaze is still under investigation.

Volunteer firemen from the Ford suffered a minor leg injury in the blaze.

City fund shows overruns

BAY ST. LOUIS—The city's 19 fund accounts indicated balances amounting to $484,411.32 as of June 30, according to figures released by the mayor's office this week.

Mayor Warren Carver said bond and interest funds showed a balance of $119,244.00, funds set aside for special purposes showed a balance of $89,589.94, utility operating funds showed a balance of $125,000.00, and the city's general fund showed a balance of $150,577.38. The figures are preliminary and subject to audit.

Supervisors approve Camille repayment

By a 4 to 1 vote Hancock County supervisors Monday approved a plan of repayment for $275,000 in Camille loan monies which calls for no increase in taxation.

The repayment plan was due in the state office of Budget and Accounting June 8. The plan to be submitted first calls for the return of $125,177.38 collected from various county funds plus the interest due this year on the loan.

The supervisors proposed that the remainder of the loan be repaid by deducting existing taxes on the repayment. The plan also provides for the return of $150,577.38 collected from various county funds plus the interest due this year on the loan.

All candidates are reminded that political advertisements must be brought to the clerk's office before 5 p.m. Monday in order to be included in this week's issue of the paper.

Smiling hopefuls

Misses Stephen Winnard, Cattie Floyd, and Catha Langley all smiled Wednesday as they arrived at the Buena Vista Motel in Biloxi for the state Miss Hospitality pageant. The three were among 61 contestants from all over the state who will be vying for the Miss Hospitality title in the 28th annual pageant. Sponsored by the Travel and Tourism Department of the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board, the pageant will run through Saturday night. Miss Winnard represents Bay St. Louis-Diamondhead, while Miss Floyd represents Pass Christian and Miss Langley represents Waveland.

Water hyacinths counted on to bring city

By ANITA DENWIDDIE

BAY ST. LOUIS—The first step in an experimental wastewater treatment project was completed Monday with the first harvesting of a five-acre bed of water hyacinths from the Bay St. Louis wastewater pond. The project, a joint effort of the Hancock County and NSTL, environmental agencies, has been in the planning stage since January.

Specifically, the treatment project involves using water hyacinths to absorb waste and nutrients from the wastewater. The project is expected to be completed by the end of the year.

Laboratory experiments conducted by B. E. Watson, who has headed the project since its inception, are in early stages. The project is expected to be completed by the end of the year.

With a 75 percent reduction in the amount of waste entering the wastewater treatment system, the project is expected to be completed by the end of the year.

Funeral services for Roy Little, 18, of 404 First St. in Gulfport, who died Thursday at Hahnemann General Hospital, were held at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Church of Christ in Gulfport.

Interment was in Floral Hills Memorial Gardens, Gulfport.

A native of Carpenter, Miss. Little was a member of the Church of Christ.

He is survived by two sons, William L. Little of Bay St. Louis and Thomas R. Little of Allenton Park, Pa., two daughters, Mrs. Evelyn Little of Carpenter and Mrs. Marguerite James of Ft. Walton, Fla., one sister, Mrs. J. G. Parks of Udon, Miss., one half-brother, Fred Coleman of Hattiesburg, 11 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

Hahnemann Funeral Home in Gulfport was in charge of the services.

THEODORE G. STECHMANN

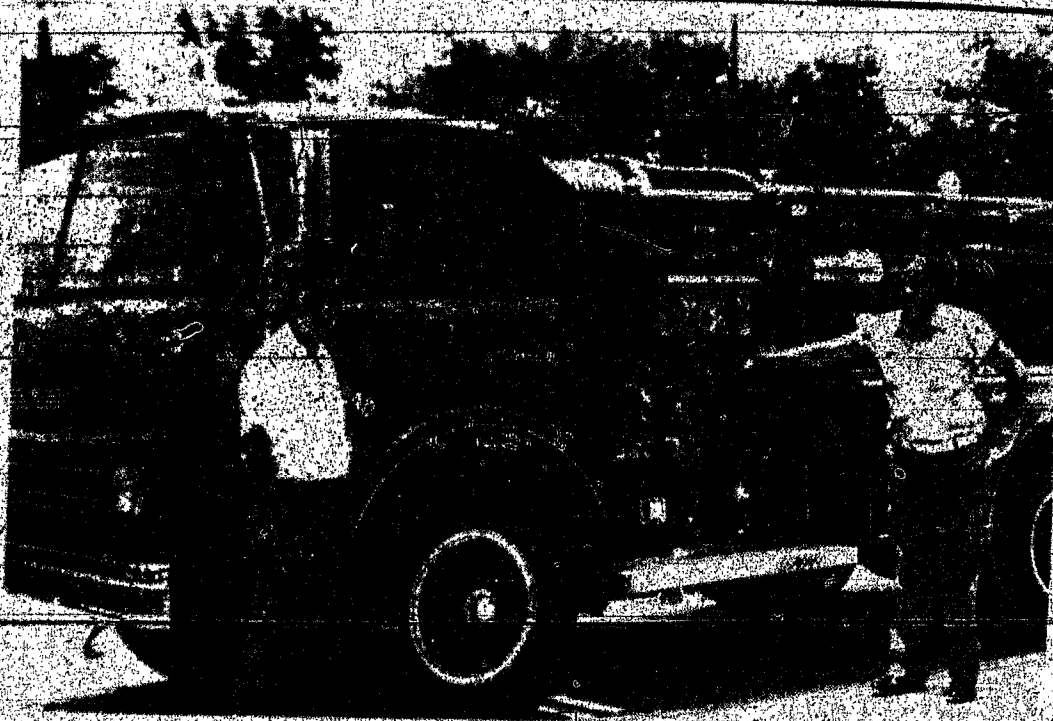

Funeral services for Theodore G. Stechmann, 57, of 117 Bay View Court in Bay St. Louis, who died in his home Wednesday, were held at 10 a.m. Friday, July 19, from Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis.

Interment was in Cedar Rest Cemetery in Bay St. Louis.

A native of New Orleans, Stechmann was a retired bookkeeper, a member of Our Lady of the Gulf Church, a member of the Knights of Columbus, a member of the Searchers Committee of the Bay of America, and a member of the Bay-Waterfront Yacht Club.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Edna Stechmann, three sons, Theodore Stechmann, Jr. and William J. Stechmann, both of Bay St. Louis, and Richard H. Stechmann of Houston, La., one daughter, Mrs. Beverly Haddock of Jackson and four grandchildren.

Hahnemann Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis was in charge of the services.

First-class protection

Diamondhead fire chief Ed Friloux and firemen C. B. Nelson and Leo Ladner display their new class-A 1,000 gallon per minute pumper, one of the reasons the Diamondhead fire district was lowered from a class 10 to a class eight rating. The new rating will lower fire insurance costs to Diamondhead residents.

Diamondhead residents get fire insurance break

Residents of Diamondhead will be paying less fire insurance next year due to improvements in the fire department which have changed the area's insurance rating from a class 10 to a class 8, announced fire chief Ed Friloux last week.

A recent inspection of the Mississippi State Rating Bureau has altered the area's rating from the lowest possible rating, class 10, meaning no fire protection, to a class eight. Friloux said the rating change was due to the establishment of the Diamondhead Fire District, which began in January of 1974.

Friloux estimated that the owner of a $40,000 home in Diamondhead will realize a $233 reduction next year on insurance premiums.

Friloux said the department had achieved the new rating by meeting the three basic requirements of the rating bureau which include having a legal political entity with tax authority, a water distribution system with elevated storage, and a class 1 pumper capable of pumping 1,000 gallons per minute. The new rating was made known to Friloux by chief engineer, Ralph E. Laughlin, June 24.

The department presently employs three operators, C. B. Nelson, Leo Ladner and Dominic San Filippo, and has 53 fire fighting volunteers and 14 volunteer radio operators to call on in case of an emergency.

The recent improvements in the fire department have been made possible by the Diamondhead Fire District, a voluntary organization of residents who contribute $5 per year to the fire department. Walter Gex is chairman of the district.

Kiln residents come to rescue of manager

Two Kiln residents, Lionel Hoda and Jesse Nacaise, overpowered an assailant of Mrs. Viola Smith, night manager of Kiln Supermarket at 3:25 a.m. Monday.

Mrs. Smith of Kiln is reported to be improving at Keesler Hospital in Biloxi following the attack Monday. Sheriff Sylvan Ladner said James White, 18, had been arrested and charged with assault and battery with intent to kill following his alleged attack upon the manager with a club.

Ladner said White had left the store after making some purchases, but returned later with the club and assaulted Mrs. Smith. He said that robbery was apparently not the motive for the attack.

Hoda and Nacaise entered the store shortly after the attack began and followed a trail of blood to the warehouse where they discovered White bending over the body of Mrs. Smith with the club in his hand. They overpowered the assailant and called the sheriff's office.

Deputies Leo Woods and Willie Lee investigated the assault, and White is presently being held in county jail without privilege of bond.

Openings exist in Vo-Tech

Poplarville-Wallis Lott, vocational-technical counselor at Pearl River Junior College in Poplarville, announced today that several of the vo-tech programs have openings for the fall semester.

In the technical area, students may register in electronics, data processing, drafting and distributive marketing technology.

Openings in the vocational division include electricity, machine shop, carpentry, masonry and auto mechanics.

Lott said more information may be obtained by contacting the PRC Vo-Tech center.

Fine trial awaits ruling on motion to suppress

Hancock County Circuit Judge Floyd Logan took under advisement a motion to suppress physical evidence in the murder case against Jimmy Ray Fine in the Monday morning court session.

Boyce Holleman, attorney for the defense, and assistant district attorney Joe Sam Owen were ordered by Logan to file briefs by Aug. 21 stating their arguments on the motion to disallow the presentation of a pistol recovered from Fine's residence after the December shooting of his wife.

Logan promised a decision on the motion sometime between the July and October terms.

In other cases, Eloy Bates was fined $1000 plus cost of court following the acceptance of a guilty plea to a charge of grand larceny.

The court sentenced Mark Bobbins to one year in the county jail following the acceptance of a guilty plea to a reduced charge of possession of greater than one ounce of marijuana. A similar charge is also pending against Bobbins in Harrison County, and if sentenced in this case, he will serve the sentences concurrently.

Joan Marie Bobbins, a co-defendant in the case, was sentenced to three years probation. According to the Mississippi Code, the addition of bail against Mrs. Bobbins is deferred until the end of her probation period, but in no event will be affixed unless she breaks the requirements of probation. She was also fined $500 plus cost of court.

No word used has as many diverse meanings as the word law. Fundamentally, it means, that which is laid down; that which is established. The principal idea that is common to all meanings of the word law is that of order and regularity in the happening of events.

Agas ago the leaders of the human race, tribal chiefs, headmen of a village or community, even kings and sovereign heads of states learned the needs of a common code of conduct for the benefit and the betterment of the human race.

It is a matter of fact that every well regulated society must have laws to insure the security of the person; the security of property; and peaceful and harmonious living for its citizens.

Our law enforcement officers must then be imbued with the fact that they are professional men, that law enforcement is a profession, and as such, must be studied scientifically and practiced with ethics. Just as in other professions, law enforcement has its divisions of specialties and each specialty takes years of study and practice to ensure competency. Police work, properly conducted and administered is a profession and not a business or a job. Our laws are not self operating. They must be enforced by a trained body of men and women, dedicated to creating a much better world than that which we live in now. Law enforcement is exploring new frontiers and offers a definite challenge to the adventurous spirit. There is a noticeable trend towards upgrading the standards of the police service.

Requirements are becoming stiffer, opportunities wider. The time is coming when the men and women who enforce the laws will have the same professional standing as those who study or interpret them. Crime detection is no longer a matter of chance. It is a science. It is a profession. It is a career. It is a challenge. It is a duty. It is a responsibility. It is a privilege. It is a honor. It is a life.

Bygone Days

1 YEARS AGO

July 23, 1974 - Jordan River Shores, a subdivision long on the firing line of the Hancock County Planning Commission and charged with failure to comply with regulations regarding sewerage, central water supply and paved streets, has placed in escrow money to insure placement of a sewerage system on Phase One of the development according to Walter J. Phillips, attorney for the subdivision.

10 YEARS AGO

July 22, 1965 - Faced with the problem of spending $250,000 to renovate and modernize the old courthouse and $600,000 to construct another, the Hancock County board of supervisors voted Monday for the new building.

20 YEARS AGO

July 20, 1945 - Mr. Marcell W. Magee, of Tylertown, arrived in Bay St. Louis on Monday to assume his position as principal and coach of Bay High. Mr. Magee has for several years been principal of Progress High School in Pike County and comes to Bay St. Louis highly recommended.

30 YEARS AGO

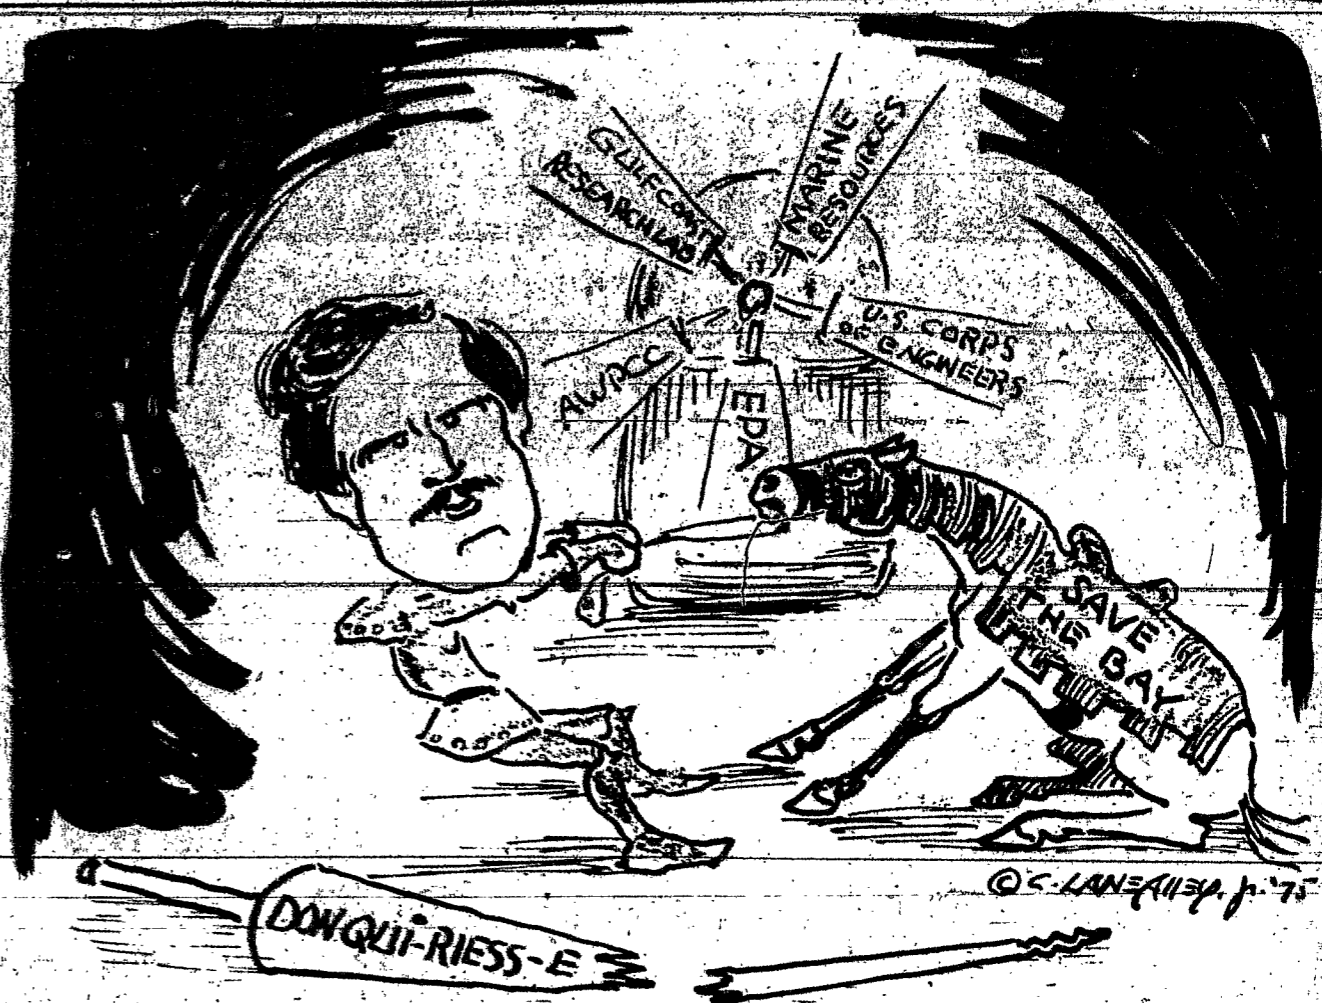

July 25, 1945 - National recognition has been given Bay St. Louis this past week. The Bay St. Louis Better Home demonstration has won honorable mention in the national contest.

40 YEARS AGO

July 21, 1936 - The popularity of Waveland as a summer resort is unbounded. Although the season's zenith will soon be gone, families continue coming over from New Orleans. Mr. John B. Mitchell and family are late arrivals.

Mr. J. L. Younger came out from New Orleans Sunday on a visit to his family.

Mr. James McMillan and family are at their summer while for the season. Mr. McMillan, a well known attorney at New Orleans, has been coming to this place each year for the past 10 or 15 years.

Why double taxation?

Mississippi motorists are feeling a hard tug on their pocketbooks due to the increase in gas prices. In fact, Mississippians are paying higher gas prices than most states.

The immediate question is obvious: Why are our gas prices so high? And one answer is obvious: Mississippi has a double tax on gasoline.

Mississippi has the highest gas tax in the nation amounting to as much as 35 cents and more on each gallon.

A breakdown for our gas taxes shows:

-Nine-cent federal excise tax.

-Four-cent state excise tax.

-Five percent sales tax applied to the price of the gas and excise taxes. This tax amounts to as much as three cents and more on each gallon of gas.

Mississippi, by applying the sales tax to the excise taxes, is the only state in the nation with the "Double tax." This practice alone accounts for almost one cent on the price of each gallon of gasoline.

The Mississippi Economic Council has long backed repeal of the state's sales tax on gasoline. Eliminating the tax could reduce our gas prices by three cents a gallon.

The consumer could be wise to remember taxes are where 75 percent of gasoline costs originate. A sure way to reduce gas prices is to repeal our state's gas sales tax.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

More than a century ago a war was going on in this country. Just about every white man in Mississippi was involved in it. For the so-called Secession Convention, meeting in Jackson on Jan. 7, 1861, had voted overwhelmingly that this state should be the second one to leave the Union.

Looking back at the South as a whole at that time, one had just one word that could come to mind - war. In every other military campaign the South had overestimated. And even that one great word was not enough to lead to progress. The South, the land to grow it in, was not enough to lead to progress.

The general property of the South just before the war is indicated by the real and personal property held by the delegates. It amounted to $1,000,000,000 and over, and $1,000,000,000 and over.

in personal property. If the secession was maintained on all the Southern States, the South eventually would be a Confederacy. It is evident that a large sum was drained from the South by the war.

However, the Mississippi Convention delegates, made desperate by their treatment by the rest of the Union, refused to let money be a consideration, and with an almost unanimous vote (one delegate out of 100 did not cast a vote) Mississippi joined South Carolina as a demand for immediate secession, and war followed almost immediately.

Four years later, peace had been declared with tragedy and suffering. It was over and the Confederacy had lost. But the South had lost more than a war. It had lost its way of life. The rich land was still there, but who was going to plant and harvest the cotton, now that the millions were still fighting in the cities? The white doctored soldiers found that their hands were no longer available, the merchants had no stock for their stores, business of every kind was at a complete collapse. No one in the South in 1865 was ever heard to mention the Mississippi Secession Convention of 1861.

Bicentennial News

By JOE PHLET

The party the most historic house in the Mississippi Gulf Coast and undoubtedly the most frequently photographed in Biloxi. Maintained as a museum, the house is known to all as "the last home of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy."

Actually, Beauvoir was 25 years old when President Davis came to the road to road, and while about the experience. Let's review the history of Beauvoir.

James Brown had a large and prosperous plantation in Madison County, Mississippi. Brown also had a wife, 11 children and two slaves living under the roof. He needed and wanted a large house. A plot of land fronting the Gulf Coast in Biloxi was chosen as much for the breezes as for the view and in 1852 construction of the home and cottages got underway. First a four room cottage was built and the Browns lived in it while watching the one time grow. This cottage later on became the quarters and a kitchen.

A great many people worked in the construction of Beauvoir. A labor force from the plantation did much of the heavy work required more slaves than skill. New Orleans supplied carpenters, cabinet makers and decorators. A practical plan for making use of every breeze was devised. A raised house would allow air to circulate beneath the building and thereby cool the floors. Long porches would shade the house, a central hallway and cross-ventilation would circulate the air and windows of course, would be floor length. Those were the basics. Added were lovely ceiling frescoes, rounded corners in the central hallway and beautiful parlors. Two additional cottages were added to house Brown's office, the children's school room, and space for guests.

Frank Johnston bought this beautiful spread in 1973 after Brown's death and sold it the same year to Mrs. Sarah Dorsey of Natchez. It was Mrs. Dorsey who gave the property its name - Beauvoir (Beautiful View).

We are much more familiar with the recent history - we know that President Davis lived in a cottage, wrote The Rise and Fall of the Confederate Government, made a contract to buy the property and six months after the first payment was made, Mrs. Dorsey died, leaving the property to Jefferson Davis.

The estate was, however, heavily in debt and Davis refused to accept the property as willed and instead continued to make payments on the house until it was paid for. Davis died in 1893 and the property remained in the family first with Winnie, beloved daughter and owner, and later when Winnie died the house passed in ownership to Mrs. Davis.

Mrs. Davis was poor - she was proud - and she was in failing health and wisely in the year 1901 she solved her problem by selling Beauvoir to the Mississippi Division, Sons of Confederate Veterans. Confederate soldiers, sailors, wives, widows, orphans and slaves were to find sanctuary at this property as long as needed.

Today this 125-year old home is in good condition. It is the Jefferson Davis Shrine - lovingly cared for and substantially furnished with many pieces used by the Davises. The ground floor is a museum - a treasure trove of years past.

more than last year's subsidies. That $1.58 billion, however, is actually $1 billion LESS than the Postal Service requested.

I voted FOR the measure, because I approved the Postal Service funds, but because that particular bill contained necessary money for a wide range of general government activities. Beyond that, the entire package was $1.93 billion (or 24.5 percent) BELOW the FY 75 appropriations and $1.1 million (or one per cent) BELOW the FY 76 request.

And at a time when we need to be cutting back on federal expenditures $1.93 billion is more than just a drop in the bucket.

But what about the postal rate increases and the proposed extinction of some 12,000 rural post offices? Have I pressed anyone about the validity of these rumors?

You bet I have - before I voted for the appropriations bill! I was told that neither rumor holds water - at least as far as the immediate future is concerned.

A three-cent increase in the price of first class stamps, I was told, is not possible before January or February of next year at the earliest. After that, it's anybody's guess.

"The Postal Service is currently tied to a temporary rate of 10 cents per first class stamp, which went into effect in September of 1973. Since then, another increase request has been tied up in the Postal Rate Commission.

As far as the closing of rural post offices is concerned, I don't see much chance of that happening. A Post Office and Civil Service subcommittee was to conduct two days of hearings on that subject this week, but no one expects the proposal to get off the ground.

It all started in June with a General Accounting Office report to Congress entitled: "100 Million Could Be Saved Annually in Postal Operations in Rural America Without Affecting the Quality of Service." Basically, it called for the closing of 12,000 small rural post offices throughout the country.

Once it was made public, however, the complaints started rolling in. GAO was flooded with objections from rural Americans who feared that such a move would drastically curtail postal service in small communities.

"Not true." A GAO congressional relations officer told Members of Congress. "It was found that rural small offices would be closed."

Whatever the outcome, here is one Congressmen who plans to hold any rate increases or post office changes to fully investigate and justify before they are implemented.

did not even capitalize the letter F in the word "Fishes". After all these years to come up with journalistic accuracy of this magnitude. Tch!

The information that Fishes should always be "capital F" is in all probability common enough to be made into a Federal case. This capital F, according to Webster's, is a registered trademark.

In writing to build up some sort of reputation we pursued Webster's New World Dictionary - and failed to find Fishes - it's not in there. Neither would it be listed in the American Pocket of which F. L. Smith is often in debt.

Illegal trapping gear

Game and Fish Commission officers Clarence Cameron from Hancock County, George Wright from Harrison County and Wayne Corkern from Pearl River County

display a haul of illegal fishing traps taken from two Picaune fishermen Monday. The slat traps are prohibited by state law.

Game wardens find illegal traps

Two Picaune men were arrested at 12:30 p.m. Monday by officers of the Mississippi Game and Fish Commission for using illegal traps in the East Pearl River.

Russell Gerald and Herman Frierson, both of Rt. 4, Picaune, were fined $400 each by Justice of the Peace Joseph Dobson for the use of slat boxes forbidden by section 49-7-92 of the Mississippi Code. A portion of the fine, $400, was suspended.

Arresting officers Clarence Cameron of Hancock County,

Wayne Corkern of Pearl River County and George Wright of Harrison County said the traps had been discovered Wednesday and had been under surveillance. The two men were caught removing a catch of 54 catfish from the traps.

Long Beach given $2,000 for protection

BY BOB INNES

Mayor Sam Maxwell said Monday after a meeting with the Harrison County Board of Supervisors, the board has agreed to give the City of Long Beach $2,000 to cover costs of fire protection in and outside the city limits.

Maxwell appeared before the board on May 30 asking for relief because the city fire department was also having to cover fires outside the city limits.

Wade Guice, former county fire marshal, told Maxwell of the chartering of a volunteer fire department to serve the specific areas outside the city limits.

Guide also asked that the Long Beach Fire Department continue covering that area until Oct. 1, since the volunteer department didn't have any equipment.

Maxwell stated that "it would take about $2,000 to do so," and the board acted and told Maxwell that they would give the city the money.

Maxwell told the board that the city averages about 10 runs per month and the estimated cost is $194 per run. Outside the city limits boundaries are one mile north of the beach to north of 28th Street, then east to Lewis Ave. and west to Beatline Road. The volunteer fire department is expected to be operational soon since the Board gave them a headstart of $7,000 capital.

Grand jury returns July indictments

Indictments returned by the July term of the Hancock County Grand Jury Thursday included one charge of assault and battery with intent to kill, three charges of grand larceny, one charge of attempted grand larceny, one charge of burglary of a dwelling, one charge of forgery and six charges of possession of controlled substances.

Henry M. Spivey was indicted on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill in connection with the March 27 shooting of his wife, Ruby Spivey, with a .38 caliber revolver. Spivey pled not guilty to the charge at his arraignment Tuesday before Circuit Court Judge Floyd Logan. The trial has been set for the October term.

Grand larceny indictments were returned against Wayne Turnbull and Warren Guidroz in connection with the break-in March 19 of the Black House Lounge in Waveland. David Caldwell and Nolan Gilbert were charged in the theft of a 24-foot cabin cruiser, inboard-outboard motor and trailer, and Victor Glenn Maurice was charged with the Jan. 30 theft of a diamond solitaire ring from Cathy's Jewelry in Our Shopping Center in Waveland. Maurice was also indicted for the attempted theft of a 1973 Chevrolet Nova owned by M.E. Howard.

Joseph Henry Mitchell was indicted in connection with the burglary of the home of Michael W. Garden in Pearlington March 27 in which a turntable, stereo, cassette player and other personal possessions were stolen. Indicted for possession of a controlled substance with intent to sell were Saul and Jose Luis Cabrera. Indicted for possession of a controlled substance were Gerald Patrick Mauffray, Jerry C. Peters, Robert H. Cohen, Duane E. Kilzer and Walter W. Davenport.

Isiah Oliver was indicted for uttering forgery May 20 at Davis Sewing Center at Our Shopping Center in Waveland.

Woman, two men sought after armed assault in Long Beach

Long Beach Bureau

Long Beach Police are searching for a woman and two men charged with the Monday night armed robbery and attempted murder of an elderly Long Beach resident, according to police.

Robert A. Fullmer, of 419 Gerrard Ave., told police Tuesday afternoon one of the men stabbed him in the chest and took $2 late Monday night. Police said Fullmer was left tied up and unable to free himself until Tuesday afternoon.

Fullmer was listed in fair condition Tuesday night at Gulfport Memorial Hospital.

Police said the woman asked to use Fullmer's phone about 11 p.m. Monday when two men entered the residence, one with a gun and the second a knife.

Fullmer freed himself and walked to a neighbor's house at 3 p.m. Tuesday.

JERRY LADNER IS WILLING TO RUN ON HIS RECORD!

★ NEARLY 23 MILES OF PAVED ROADS

★ NEARLY 60 MILES OF SHELL ROADS

★ COMPLETED OVER 20 MILES OPENING DRAINAGE

★ REBUILT BEACH ROAD FROM BAYOU CADDY TO CLERMONT HARBOR.

★ BLACKTOPPED DRIVEWAYS FOR SCHOOLS.

WHEN I TOOK OFFICE 3½ YEARS AGO, BEAT ONE WAS $36,000 IN DEBT, AND THE ROADS AND EQUIPMENT WERE IN TERRIBLE SHAPE. TODAY, I AM PROUD TO SAY BEAT ONE IS IN SOUND FINANCIAL CONDITION, AND I WAS ABLE TO PAVE AND SHELL MORE THAN 100 MILES OF ROAD PREVIOUS 10 YEARS. (WITHOUT BORROWING FROM THE STATE)

THIS HASN'T BEEN EASY. I HAVE HAD TO FIGHT AGAINST THE "YES MAN" GANG. THE "YES MAN" GANG DID NOT WANT ME TO SUCCEED. THEY ARE TRYING TO STOP ME BECAUSE JERRY LADNER IS NOT A "YES MAN" FOR ANYONE.

STAND FAST! VOTE FOR JERRY LADNER

ELECT A MAN WHO CAN

FACTS ARE FACTS

MY Opponent needs to first know the facts before he can make comparisons - He tries to confuse the people with only partial facts in his comparison of my ad of 4 years ago. It was for only 3½ years - not a 6 years comparison like my ad of 1975.

In the ad of Mr. Jerry Ladner in the July 17th issue he again refused to discuss the issues as usual by trying to confuse the voters as he has in the past 3½ years in office as Supervisor. I will take each statement he made in his ad and show how he tries to mislead the voters of this beat.

The record of my two county elections was different; Mr. Ladner says I was misleading, etc. He first used part of my ad of July 1st, 1971. The gentlemen helping with this ad advised me to use my record in comparison with that of the incumbent in road construction as well as equal time we each served - which was a period of 3½ years. The ad used in this present campaign clearly states my record of six years as supervisor.

The ad of July 10th on my behalf had pictures that do not lie!

When this ad of July 10 was published he was faced with facts. The pictures were true. I rode over the roads where the pictures were taken. Knowing this to be true, I approved the ad. But TRUTHFUL JERRY ignored the facts and started lying and making false statements on issues that's not worth the money to answer. Such as not giving culverts and building roads for people to relocate. - If I didn't build them, I would like to know who did? I even went to Lakeshore for people to relocate. We made driveways and gave culverts and that was in Beat 1 long before Jerry came into the picture. Now let him lie and say this is not true! But, if I did miss someone, I ask Mr. Ladner to give me his name and I will give him a culvert and driveway in January of 1976.

OH! How many take credit for the Port & Harbor?

Mr. Jerry Ladner tries to take credit for the people who work for industry in Hancock County, he makes no mention of jobs in this county. If this is so, please let their names be published. I know of at least 50 people who take credit for the Port and Harbor and all the things they did for its success (I hope).

Look at what my opponent says he WILL HAVE

DURING HIS FIRST TERM IN OFFICE, JERRY LADNER WILL HAVE:

PAVED nearly twenty-three (23) miles of roads;

FINISHED nearly sixty (60) miles of newly shelled roads;

COMPLETED over twenty (20) miles opening drainage;

I want to know how much my opponent has done during his first 3½ years in Beat 1?

No comparison of Mr. Ladner's record was made because I don't know any road construction that was made with county funds. The paving such as South Street was contracted and paid for by revenue sharing money (said road now has holes in it). So in addition to not making sense and being contradictory, Mr. Ladner is just plain stupid. He was again trying to confuse the voters with lies as he has in the past.

He denied the statement of the State Aid Inspector that his roads were not maintained. Here is the action of the State and of the Supervisors:

THE SEA COAST ECHO, THURSDAY, MARCH 27, 1975

Board instructs Ladner to improve road conditions

A motion instructing Beat One Supervisor Jerry Ladner to begin maintenance work immediately on state aid roads in his district was passed on a four-to-one vote Monday by Hancock Supervisors over Ladner's objections.

The action by the board was the result of a letter from the State Aid Road Division of the State Highway Department to Board Chairman A. Dolph Kellar stating that funds for future state aid road work would be held back until the county could show proper maintenance of its present roads.

All of the roads listed in the letter are located in Ladner's beat, prompting Kellar and Supervisors Billy Zengering and James Travira to call the special session Monday. The motion passed by the board also states that the county will perform the maintenance work if Ladner fails to do so. "We can't allow one man to lose the money for state aid roads for the entire county," said Zengering.

I also paved the road which his sister lives on in Pearlington after the election in 1967. How many defeated supervisors have that kind of work? He asked I was bringing about my record. Now he knows is the truth. He also knows that if I make a commitment I will keep it, and all the people of Beat 1 will tell you the same. My word is my bond.

Mr. Ladner mentioned all the promises I make just don't add up. I know they don't to him, simply because he doesn't know how to add. The truth is mentioned that he was failing was all facts. I say they are facts Beat 1. He asked the pictures in my July 10 ad in the paper were the truth. If they are lies why doesn't he say so? Don't change the subject. Start a mud slinging contest about the ad I made in last election's election.

No then - Yes now?

He has told the people that he could not give culverts and fix driveways - that it was against the law. Why all of a sudden does he begin to give anyone (who he thinks would vote for him) culverts, shells, etc.?

Too little - Too late!

I can tell you that he stated he didn't need this part of the county, he would get his votes in other beats. But he was caught with his pants down when the Court ruled in my favor. Therefore, he started too little, too late!

Then TRUTHFUL JERRY said he would appeal the decision of the court if he had to pay the lawyer fee out of his pocket. Did he appeal? Just another lie! Now I could write fifty or so pages about his record on this project or that project, but the people know the truth. I expect him to now say I built motels and any other lie he can think of. But the truth is that he has stopped the progress of our county by being against other board members on every important issue.

These are the facts

The credit goes to Mr. Clarence Ladner, now commissioner of the City of Bay St. Louis, who at that time was State Representative from Hancock County who, in 1962, introduced the bill to the legislature and which was eventually passed and made the law. I then talked with other board members at Mr. Clarence Ladner's request. The members agreed and I made the motion to appoint members to establish this commission in 1963, which Mr. Jerry says he gave 450 jobs in this county.

My opponent says that he "worked to provide over Four Hundred Fifty (450) jobs in industry in Hancock County." I want to know how many people have been employed by new industry in Hancock County during the past 3½ years and where at?

Now I don't like a mud slinging contest and I hope we can finish this race with facts not misleading the voters. I would like to work with the people of our new district for 4 years to show them what I can do with the tax money we now have available in comparison to what I had when I was in office before. You could see improvements in all parts of Beat 1 and Hancock County and funds would be evenly divided in each community.

Saucier, Holleman argue for prisoners

BY BOB INNES
Living Beach Bureau

PASS CHRISTIAN — A debate between the Harrison County Board of Supervisors and Pass Christian Mayor Steve Saucier on responsibility of feeding prisoners in the county jail ended without solution.

The lengthy debate over the responsibility of feeding city prisoners in the county jail ended without solution.

Pass Mayor Saucier told the supervisors his city would be double taxed if required to pay $3 a day for each city prisoner housed in the county jail. The city of Pass Christian owes an estimated $6,400 in jail fees according to county officials.

"It's strictly a question of law," board attorney Boyce Holleman argued. "The municipalities may contract with the county to keep prisoners in the county jail."

The city residents pay twice for services which county residents support only one time because the city residents pay six mills levied by the county for the general fund which includes judicial system, law enforcement and imprisonment expenses.

The board voted to reconsider the list of prisoners, stressing that the city hasn't been charged for any prisoners that don't remain in the jail for a full day.

Hospitality hopefuls await ceremony

"I couldn't believe it... I really thought they'd made a mistake," is what Robin Matulich of Columbia, the reigning Miss Hospitality, felt at her coronation ceremonies last year.

In just two short days another lucky young woman will hear her name called, feel the same overwhelming emotion, and have the "Miss Hospitality" crown placed on her head.

Mississippi's 26th annual Miss Hospitality Pageant is presently underway at the Pete Fountain Buena Vista Hotel in Biloxi. It began when the first girls, all local Hospitality title holders, began arriving early Wednesday morning, and will conclude after three days of judging, modeling sessions and activities at coronation ceremonies on Saturday night.

This year's final group of 81 contestants is the largest in the history of the pageant. The next largest was in 1973 when 79 young ladies vied for the coveted Hospitality crown.

Thursday's schedule calls for the girls to be up bright and early with judging and modeling sessions to begin at 9 a.m. The day's luncheon is courtesy of the City of Biloxi. The afternoon will be filled with modeling and judging followed by a seated dinner at 6:30 p.m. courtesy of the A & I Board.

Friday will be a repeat of judging and modeling, with lunch courtesy of the Jackson County Post Authority and Jackson County Board of Supervisors. A yachting party aboard the Pan American, complete with box suppers and entertainment, will conclude the day's activities.

The big day, Saturday, will begin with the traditional "Miss Hospitality" breakfast with the reigning Miss Hospitality, Robin Matulich, serving as hostess. There will be a final judging session beginning at 9 a.m., then lunch and rehearsal for the evening's ceremonies. For those who can swallow their food, individual dinners will be served from 5:30 p.m. Coronation ceremonies will begin at 8:45 p.m. followed by a reception for contestants and families.

The four days of the Miss Hospitality Pageant are exciting, rewarding, and fun-filled days for dozens of the state's loveliest young women. And for that lucky one chosen to wear the Hospitality crown, the coming year will be, in the words of the present title holder, "... a very rewarding experience."

Residents petition supervisors to complete drainage

Residents of communities in Pearl Harbor, Springwood Park, Bayshore and Lakeside presented a petition containing names of 250 registered voters to the board of supervisors Monday asking for action on a road drainage project which had not been completed.

The petition claimed that the supervisors had been lax in their duties by not acting on a motion by beat one supervisor Jerry Ladner to notify the bonding company of Crown Construction that the $48,700 job had not been completed.

The residents claimed that one of the five phases of the plan, involving laying shells in various roads in beat one, had not been completed.

The supervisors defended their action in not calling up the bond company saying that Ladner had signed the report of assistant county engineer Don Murray saying that the job was 90 percent complete.

"All I want is to see $48,000 of work," Ladner said. "I signed the certification on the recommendation of the engineer. I'm not an engineer, and I just took it on his word."

Ladner and Jay Egan of Crown Construction agreed to discuss the work remaining on the project after the meeting. The petition was accepted into the minutes of the meeting. In other business concerning the county roads, the board voted to recommend to the state-aid road division that the bid of Alabama Waterproofing Company of Mobile, Ala. be accepted for sealing 5 miles of Kiln-Fenton road provided the contract is changed to specify a one and one half inch blacktop overlay rather than two inches. A decision was delayed last week until the state-aid division made recommendations on $30,797 bid.

Board president A. A. Kellar announced that the state-aid division would conduct a re-inspection of three roads in beat one which did not meet department standards following the March inspection. Kellar said the board had promised the state-aid people that the repairs would be made by July 31.

Supervisor Ladner said Monday, however, that he would not do the required repairs on the roads in the buffer zone. "I am not going to work those swamp roads that lead to a dead end in the buffer zone," Ladner said. "I have asked the state-aid road division to abandon these roads, but they have refused." Kellar said the board supported Ladner's move to have the roads taken from the list, but reminded him that funds could be withheld from the Kiln-Fenton project if the repairs are not made. Ladner, however, denied the threat and restated his position that he would not work roads that are not used.

In other action, the board voted to accept the proposal of the Gulf Regional Planning Commission that a lot be purchased across from the youth detention center in Bay St. Louis at a cost of $7,500 for a youth court. Fred Wagner of Bay St. Louis has been appointed architect for the $95,000 project.

Wilson Webb, port and harbor director, presented an addendum to the contract of Marine Concrete Structures, Inc. allowing the company to purchase additional space in Port Bienville Industrial Park for an administrative personnel building. The board also approved J and L Fabricating, located in Port Bienville, as official inspectors for the Federal Railroad Administration.

In final action, the board appointed Fred Wagner and William Tate, III, both of Bay St. Louis to fill vacancies on the Gulf Regional Planning Commission. Rev. R. N. Sams of Pearl Harbor was appointed an ex-officio member of the commission.

County employees in the supervisory districts received raises effective Aug. 1 according to the following schedule: heavy equipment operators, $3 per hour; truck drivers, $2.75 per hour; and laborers, $2.25 per hour.

Saturn reenters atmosphere without incident

MARSHALL SPACE FLIGHT CENTER, Ala. — The upper stage and instrument unit, part of the Saturn IB rocket that carried the American Apollo astronauts into Earth orbit for the historic link-up with the Russian Soyuz cosmonauts, reentered the Earth's atmosphere without notice last week.

The 31,000 pound stage and instrument unit, empty of 64,000 gallons of liquid hydrogen and 20,000 gallons of liquid oxygen propellants, reentered the Earth's atmosphere at approximately 8:45 a.m. CDT July 23.

The stage began to break up into pieces of varying sizes as it reentered about 50 miles above the Pacific Ocean, along a trail extending from 350 miles northeast of the Marshall Islands to 1,500 miles west-southwest of the North American continent.

Waveland superintendent fired for payroll discrepancy

Waveland Mayor John Longo announced the dismissal last week of superintendent of the streets Chris Ladner, for allegedly mishandling $2,900 in city funds.

Longo said Ladner, who has served as street superintendent for nine years, had vowed to make complete restitution to the city for the money and no charges will be filed against him.

Ladner was accused of pocketing charges against the city. "All of the money has been recovered, and it has been the taxpayers' money," Longo said.

"A thing like this before it is discovered and cannot go on for very long corrected."

SECTION B

THURSDAY, JULY 24, 1975

Miss Deborah Eagan to wed Joseph Lomax

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Leitz Eagan of New Orleans announce the engagement of their daughter, Deborah Lynn, to Joseph Lomax, son of Mrs. Norma Jean Jordan and Joseph L. Jordan of Lafayette, La.

The marriage will be solemnized at 7 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 2, at St. Patrick's Church in New Orleans. A reception will follow at Gallier Hall in New Orleans.

Miss Eagan, a graduate of Mercy Academy in New Orleans, is presently attending Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi Fraternity, a representative of Associated Women's Students and a past maid in the 1974 Washington Ball in Washington, D.C.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William P.

Hopkins and the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Eagan, Sr.

Jordan is a graduate of the University of Southwestern Louisiana where he received his Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration. He was a member of Blue Key Honor Fraternity, Pi Kappa Delta Honor Speech Fraternity, College of Commerce Honor Society, president of the Young Democrats, and is listed in "Who's Who among Students in American Universities and Colleges." He will enter Louisiana State University Law School in the fall.

The groom-elect is the grandson of Mrs. Aubrey Thomas Spears of Pine Bluff, Arkansas and the late Mr. Spears and the late Mr. and Mrs. George T. Jordan.

Miss Wanda Patton marries Norman Cowart

Miss Wanda Joyce Patton, daughter of Owen E. Patton of Saucier and the late Mrs. Edna Mae Wilson Patton, became the bride of Norman Wallace Cowart, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman W. Cowart, Sr. of Wiggins, in an evening ceremony June 28 at Persimmon Hill Baptist Church in Saucier.

Rev. Harry Tapp of Gulfport officiated at the double ring ceremony. Nuptial music was presented by Miss Melissa Bowman of Wiggins. Pre-nuptial selections included "The Wedding Song" and "The Wedding Prayer" sung by Miss Bowman.

The couple exchanged vows before a brass arch highlighted by arrangements of white mums and gladiolas. Accenting the setting were candelabra with white tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Renaissance style gown of silk organza fashioned with a high neckline and bishop sleeves. Dainty tucks and blossom of alencon lace defined a sheer yoke on the lifted bodice and accented the sleeves. A wide band of corresponding lace aproned the A-line skirt that swept to a train of chapel length. Her fingertip veil was edged with matching lace and attached to a profile headpiece. The bride carried white sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Howard Thornton of Hattiesburg, attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Thornton, Miss Darlene Thornton of Bay St. Louis and Miss Charlotte Ladner of Kiln.

The attendants wore A-line gowns of blue dotted swiss featuring soft ruffled V-necklines and short tiered sleeves. A wide flounce bordered the hemline. Their picture hats were of matching blue and they carried nosegays of spring flowers.

Flower girl was Lisa Patton of Saucier, niece of the bride. She wore a pale blue gown of dotted swiss with puff sleeves and a wide flounce bordered the hemline. She carried a basket of spring flowers.

Jerry Teague of Petal, Miss. served as best man. Groomsmen were Alford Parker, Johnny Parker and Hugh Cowart of Wiggins, brother of the groom.

Ushers were Johnny Parker and Donald Patton, brother of the bride. Mother of the groom, Mrs. Cowart, selected a gown of blue knit accented with a pink throated white cymbidium orchid.

Mrs. Blant N. Reeves, aunt of the bride, chose a two-piece gown of sage green crepe accented with a yellow throated white cymbidium orchid.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Calmer Shaw.

Presiding at the guest register was Miss Karen Brooks of Wiggins. The bride's table, skirted in peau de sole, was overlaid with a tulle cloth. In the center of the table was a brass candelabra holding lighted tapers, entwined with garlands and simlax and a mixture of spring flowers. On one side of the table was the four-tiered wedding cake lavishly decorated with miniature bouquets of white spun sugar roses and on the other side was the crystal punch bowl. Miss Susan Ladner of Kiln presided over the bride's table assisted by Miss Debra Summers of Bay St. Louis, Miss Karen Bunch and Mrs. Markel Bond of Wiggins.

Satin rose bud rice bags in shades of white were given to the guests by Miss Terry Patton and Miss Lisa Patton.

For a wedding trip to Panama City, Fla., the bride chose a two-piece dress of multicolor floral print on pale green accented with beige accessories and a corsage of orchids.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Thornton, Tommy Thornton, Treva Boyd, Debra Summers and Evon Shygon from Bay St. Louis.

From Wiggins were Mrs. William Morrison, Jeanette Morrison, James Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Blaylock, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Pratt, Mrs. Charles Brooks, Miss Karen Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Williams and Mrs. Louise Blaylock Tyler.

Other guests were Dr. and Mrs. Oscar Carter, Dan Blaylock and Mrs. Midge Goings of Nashville, Tenn., Mrs. R.B. Gunn of Picayune, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Vreeland of Mobile, Ala., Mrs. and Mrs. O.E. Patton, Jr. of Passadena, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Brooks of Lucedale, Mrs. B.N. Reeves of Gulfport, Mr. and Mrs. Larry O'Neal, Ellen O'Neal, Mark O'Neal, Mrs. Mary Ladner, Mr. and Mrs. Von Ladner, Brian Ladner, Miss Karen Brunch, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Patton, Wendell Patton, Terry Patton, Sonny Patton, Mrs. Leland Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Parker of Perkinston.

Miss Ilona Sue Holley
Bride-elect of Ricky Davis

Miss Holley engaged to Ricky Davis

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Holley of Pass Christian announce the engagement of their daughter, Ilona Sue, to Ricky Dale Davis, son of W.A. Davis of Magee, Miss., and the late Mrs. Alice Rae Carter.

Miss Holley is a 1975 graduate of Harrison Central High School and is presently attending American Beauty College in Gulfport.

She is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Malley and the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Holley.

Davis is a 1974 graduate of Hancock North Central High. He is presently employed by the Consolidated Aluminum Co. in Gulfport.

He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Davis and Hines Jones and the late Mrs. Rachael Jones.

The wedding will take place at 1 p.m. Aug. 2 at Infant of Prague Catholic Church in White Cypress. All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Search begins for Miss Mississippi Universe

Applications are now being accepted from all over Mississippi for the annual Miss Mississippi Universe Pageant to be staged at the Natchez Trace Hall of Fame in Tupelo, Mississippi, Jan. 2 and 4, 1976.

The Miss Mississippi Universe Pageant is the official preliminary of the Miss USA-Miss Universe Contest. There is no "talent" requirement; all judging is on the basis of poise, personality and beauty of face and figure.

Applicants must be between 18 and 28, never married and at least six months residents of Mississippi; thus college dorm students are eligible. All girls interested in competing for the title must apply to Billie McLarty, State director, 1101 N. Main Street, Amory, Mississippi 38821 or call 256-7495.

The girl chosen as Miss Mississippi Universe will represent the state in the Miss USA Pageant, nationally televised on CBS-TV from Niagara Falls, N.Y. in May 1976. The new winner will be awarded a host of prizes including a 12 day stay in Niagara Falls. The Current Miss Mississippi Universe is 18-year-old Leigh Gross of Hernando.

Waveland represented at Governor's open house

Mrs. Clarence A. Evans of Waveland was one of five women from the Gulf Coast recently asked to be hostesses at a reception and open house at the recently renovated Governor's Mansion.

Along with Mrs. Evans, Mrs. William Gregurich of Lyman, Mrs. L. V. Pringle and Mrs. Dewey Reagan of Biloxi, and Mrs. Charles Munroe of Ocean Springs were extended invitations to host the open house in Jackson.

Over 3,000 spectators went through the mansion during the hours of the open house, receiving first hand tours of the first and second floors and the adjoining landscaped grounds.

Included on the first floor of the mansion are the state dining room and kitchen area, the governor's study, conference room, four parlors, the grand staircase, and at the opposite end of the floor, the first lady's study and her secretary's study. A reception area and waiting rooms are also found on the first floor. The second floor is composed entirely of family living quarters, including eight bedrooms, sitting room, living room, den, kitchen and dining room.

Furniture in the executive mansion includes many original pieces as well as an assortment of other antiques.

Little theatre sets tryouts

Tryouts for Agatha Christie's "Ten Little Indians," the next production of the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, July 27, and Monday, July 28.

The play calls for eight men ages 21 to 65 and three women 25 to 50.

Director Ed Craig announced that technical direction will be under Robb Sanford and production will be under Mike Cuevas.

The theatre is always looking for new local talent on the state, as back stage technicians, property workers and artists for set design decoration, said Craig.

Mrs. Murtagh installed as auxiliary president

Mrs. Edward Murtagh of Bay St. Louis was installed as president of the American Legion Post 139 Auxiliary in a joint program with the installation of legion officers July 17 at the post home.

Other officers installed include Mrs. Henry Capdepon, first vice president; Mrs.

Bay artist "discovered" by neighbor

Bay St. Louis resident, Mrs. Robert Pritchett, had always painted only for her own enjoyment until recently when a neighbor "discovered" her talent.

The neighbor expressed envy over a painting in the Pritchett home signed by C. Mills, the artist's maiden name which she uses on all her paintings, and on learning that her friend was the artist, encouraged her to show others her works.

Now all residents of the area can enjoy the works of Mrs. Pritchett, which will be on display at the City-County Public Library on Ulman Ave. in Bay St. Louis until Aug. 1.

Carlie Mills Pritchett, the 71-year-old artist, says her love of painting stems from an earlier love of gardening. Her first works, colorful flower sketches, still figure prominently in her collection which includes still lifes, seascapes and landscapes.

A native of Richton, Miss., Mrs. Pritchett and her husband, have made Bay St. Louis their retirement home. The couple work together from their Main St. home. Mr. Pritchett with a bookkeeping business and C. Mills with her painting, being careful to leave enough time for frequent visits with their son and daughter-in-law and five grandchildren from New Orleans.

Mrs. Pritchett said her formal art training consisted of four years study with artist Roma Quartano. From there she developed her own style in her art, enjoying experimenting with new techniques until she got just the right effect.

Painting is not her only talent. Mrs. Pritchett has also mastered the art of restoring antique frames, giving the perfect settings for her finished pieces. She is particularly skilled at building up the sculptured surfaces on the old fashioned wood frames.

In addition to painting, the Pritchetts are also accomplished travelers. They are ardent campers and have visited every state with the exception of Alaska and Hawaii giving the artist many subjects for her collection.

The artist has also achieved recognition in the academic field being the youngest candidate for a degree in Home Economics at Belhaven College at the age of 17 and a year later, the youngest to receive a Bachelor of Science degree from that institution.

The society also voted to reinstitute the pet-of-the-week program in the Sea Coast Echo with Bay St. Louis and

Humane society sponsors adoptions

The Bay-Waveland Humane Society discussed the importance of county and state legislation to build a Hancock County animal shelter at its monthly meeting Wednesday, July 16, in the civic room of the Gulf National Bank in Bay St. Louis.

Members were also reminded to save Purina weight circles and blue bonus coupons which the society can redeem for cash. The public may mail these circles and coupons to the Bay-Waveland Humane Society, Inc., P. O. Box 471, Waveland, Miss. 39576.

Wayland shelters alternating each week.

New discovery

Mrs. Carrie Mills Pritchett displays one of her paintings which will be on display this week at the City-County Library. Mrs.

Pritchett, who has been painting for 10 years, was recently encouraged by a neighbor to display her paintings.

DiBenedetto installed as grand knight

George DiBenedetto of Bay St. Louis was installed as grand knight of the Bay St. Louis Knights of Columbus at ceremonies Friday, July 19, at the Knights of Columbus hall.

Other officers installed included Norman Benigno, deputy grand knight; Joe Benvenuti, financial secretary; Joseph Richardson, chancellor; George Hammer, recorder; Sylvester Benigno, treasurer; Charles Scianna, advocate; Anthony Scavo, warden; Noel Fuente, one year trustee; John Benigno, two year trustee; Robert Goodsell, three year trustee; Tony Morreale, inside guard; Sam Compretta, outside guard; and Father Gregory Johnson, chaplain. Performing the ceremonies was Hester Ladner, district deputy. In attendance were Jessie Quinn, state deputy, and John Cabbibi, past state deputy.

Panoramic view

A wide observation deck extends around the second level of the new $500,000 Diamondhead Yacht Club complex to afford a panoramic view of the marina and water.

ways leading to the new facility on the grounds of the $400-acre residential resort community in Bay St. Louis.

Yacht club highlights summer at Diamondhead

New Orleans, La. — Completion and opening of the new Diamondhead Yacht Club and Marina highlighted activities at the Bay St. Louis (Miss.) residential resort community during the first half of 1975.

Part of the master plan for the 6,400-acre Diamondhead complex, the $500,000 yacht club-marina facility contains 100 boat slips for large and small craft, with launching, docking services. It is located on a waterway, less than a three-mile run from the open bay.

The main yacht club building continues the Polynesian architectural theme of all Diamondhead structures, rising 65 feet on heavy-beamed foundations.

The club rooms and lounges overlook the marina and open onto a wide, 360-degree observation deck; locker and shower rooms are located on the building's ground level. A smaller, companion structure houses a bait and tackle shop and marina service offices.

Bay St. Louis complex, said completion of the yacht club and marina is part of the company's plan to provide total community living for Diamondhead property owners.

Bru said other current Diamondhead projects include the Diamondhead Racquet Club and an Athletic Recreation Center. The racquet club, under construction and nearing completion, is located in a Tennis World section of 750 homesites and will contain eight all-weather surface courts centered around an elevated pro shop with refreshment and snack bar. Space for expansions to 24 courts is provided, he said.

The recreation center is the third and largest to be built at Diamondhead. It features playgrounds, picnic areas, a Little League baseball field, Olympic-size competitive pool, paved areas for basketball, volleyball and tennis, and a center building. It will be fully completed in the next 30 days, he said.

Bru said land sales at the Mississippi Gulf coast development totaled $2,700,000 for the six months ended June 30.

Diamondhead Corporation, which recently relocated its home offices in New Orleans, owns and operates eight residential resort communities including Pinehurst

(N. Car.), Lake Arrowhead (Ga.), Sandpiper Cove (Fla.), Lake Forest (Ala.), Diamondhead (Miss.), Falconhead (Okla.), Newport (Tex.), and Mills High (Tex.).

Echoes

Visitors last week to Mr. and Mrs. A. Santiago of Pearllington were Mrs. Althea Larrick and grandson Paul Lemah from Gretna, La. Sunday guests were Mr. and Mrs. Renee Edler from Metairie, La.

Mrs. Alva DeLanzo of Pearllington recently returned from a short visit to Salina, Kansas, where she attended the wedding of her niece, Mrs. Charles Paugh of that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee and son Jamie have returned to their home in Fremont, Nebraska after a visit with his mother Mrs. Maybelle Riles, and sisters Mrs. Norma Jean Hughes and family and Mrs. Irma Levens and family. Mrs. Beverly Lee also visited her family in New Orleans, two brothers, Joe and Jimmy Brockhoff and a sister Mrs. Ruth Schottis. Walter Lee is still in the process of directing the construction of a nuclear power plant in Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. E.J. Herndon of Waveland visited with their sons and daughters-in-law Mr. and Mrs. E.G. Herndon and Mr. and Mrs. M.R. Herndon and son in Fort Knox, Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Cuevas and son Jason of Marietta, Ga. have just returned home following a visit with his mother Mrs. Margaret Cuevas of Bay St. Louis and his sister Miss Rosalie Cuevas of Metairie, La.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. E.G. Herndon of Fort Knox, Kentucky announce the birth of their first child, a son. He weighed eight pounds, three ounces.

Maternal grandparents are Mrs. John Forehand of Atlanta, Ga. and Mr. J. Kiker, also of Atlanta.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E.J. Herndon of Waveland.

Art Caboose

Scheduled to open Friday, July 25, is the Caboose, an arts and crafts sales outlet devoted entirely to products made by Gulf Coast senior citizens. The Caboose, located in the Old Biloxi Rue Magnolia mall, will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays. Several of those involved in the

Retired caboose to feature handicraft

BILOXI—Senior citizens in the Gulf Coast area will soon have an outlet for art and craft work which they produce.

Through the cooperative efforts of the City of Biloxi, the Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District's Senior Aides Program, and the Biloxi Community Development Program, a Caboose has been provided to serve as a retail outlet shop for hand-crafts made exclusively by senior citizens. The Caboose is located in the Old Biloxi Rue Magnolia, at what used to be the corner of Magnolia and Jackson streets, and is scheduled to open Friday, July 25th.

The Caboose will be open for business between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., Tuesdays through Saturdays.

All senior citizens, 60 years of age or older who have art, crafts, or handiwork they would like to sell are encouraged to utilize the Caboose. There is no charge or mark up on items for the service.

The Caboose was moved from Ocean Springs to Biloxi by the L&N Railroad. The Gulfport-based Construction Battalion then moved it to its present site and did the necessary site preparation.

The facility will be staffed by two Senior aides, Mrs. Annie Ruth Carroll and Mrs. Evelyn Deutremble, and several volunteers.

All types of crafts and art work will be offered for sale in the Caboose when it opens Friday. Such things as needlepoint, knitted and crocheted pieces, ceramics, leatherwork, paintings and other art objects; collages and decoupage will be on display.

For further information about the Caboose, contact the Senior Aides Program at SMPDD at 888-2311 in Gulfport.

Auxiliary sets member goals

President of District No. 1 of the Ladies Auxiliary to the VFW, Helen Duches of Ocean Springs, has commenced this bi-centennial year with the request that all auxiliaries in the district set goals of at least 20 percent membership transmittal by Aug. 30; 75 percent by Nov. 1 and 100 percent by Dec. 30.

These goals have been set up by State President Jean Woodard of Gulfport as requirements for her state bi-centennial awards. Bobbie Howell, State Senior Vice President and Membership Chairman of Corinth, has announced a personal award for all District Presidents reaching 110 percent by May 31, 1975.

State officers residing in the First District are Enzo Gandy, treasurer of Ocean Springs; Pat Blakeney, guard of Long Beach; Marguerite Barial, banner bearer of Pascagoula; Norma Bonney, flag bearer of Pasco, Christian and Helen Watson, Deputy Chief of staff of Biloxi. Bi-centennial committee members from first district are Norma Bonney, Pass Christian; Marguerite Barial, Pascagoula and Hazel Blake, Gulfport.

Jaycees offer bi-centennial license

Official Mississippi bi-centennial license plates are now being sold by the Mississippi Jaycees, announced president Ben Samuel.

The plate, which was authorized by the Mississippi legislature, is being sold for $1.75. To order, send $1 plus 25 cents handling to Ray DeYoung, Treasurer, Mississippi Jaycees, Rt. 3, Box 234A71, Aberdeen, Miss. 39730. Allow six to eight weeks for delivery.

SUPERVISOR BEAT 5

HANCOCK COUNTY

A man capable of weighing all the issues.

Courageous enough to make his own decisions.

This campaign for Beat 5 Supervisor of Hancock County is fast coming to a close. The office of Board of Supervisor is a million dollar business. It needs a man who can represent you in the Legislative Commissions in Jackson, Mississippi and in the Bureaucracy in Washington, D. C.; a man who has the know how and can cut the red tape for the People of Hancock County and especially for Beat 5.

Since I have been campaigning for the office of Beat 5 Supervisor, I have found that the Voters want a man who has a strong will, not afraid to fight for their rights and bring home the Bacon, meaning jobs for the People of Beat 5. The Voters say that they want a man who can see the issues and generate jobs for the People of Beat 5. You know as well as I know what is needed to help us. I want you to let me be a part of bringing to this office a dedicated man for the job of Supervisor who wants to serve you, the People of Beat 5; a dependable man whose word is his bond, you can count on him; qualified by education, business practices and experienced for the office, since the office of Board of Supervisor is a Quasi-judicial and quasi-legislative body which enacts laws and hands down decisions and orders.

I have found that the Voters want a man who can protect and promote the interest of all the People of Beat 5 and not just a certain segment of the People; a man who will take every tax dollar (YOUR MONEY) and see that we get the most for it; a man who will stand fast and not raise your taxes but, if necessary, will go to Court to stop more taxes being placed on your shoulders when you are already overburdened with taxes; a man who knows how to give you a dollar value for every tax dollar (YOUR MONEY) spent.

VFW and auxiliary hold southern conference

The Southern Conference of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary, consisting of fourteen southern states, met July 12 and 13 at Chattanooga, Tennessee.

National president Betty Butler and senior vice president Glen Grossman attended this conference along with many other national officers. These conferences are held bi-annually for the purpose of instructing state officers and chairmen.

Virginia Sanders, of West Point, Mississippi, reported on the state's accomplishments for the past year and presented Conference president Ann Wilkins with a "magnolia pin", her symbol of 100 percent membership and community activities.

Jean Woodard of Gulfport, state president, outlined her program for the coming year in her address to the conference, as well as serving as personal page to the conference president. Inez Sherwood of Cleveland, who served as Southern Conference Legislative Chairman this year, presented "diplomas" to those states who were graduates of her class. Mrs. Sherwood was elected as guard for the coming year for the conference and Mildred Duncan of Yazoo City was appointed as patriotic instructor. Mississippi had one of the largest delegations present with 15 members in attendance.

Cassibry addresses retired workers

State Senator Nap L. Cassibry was guest speaker for chapter 209 of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees at the group's regular monthly meeting last Thursday.

Senator Cassibry was invited to bring the membership up to date on legislation of interest at the state level to retired persons.

Cassibry said that the state legislature had expanded the state Homestead Exemption during its last session to allow the exemption to either spouse over 65, regardless of which name home ownership is under.

Cassibry said an amendment was also offered to exempt trailers and modular homes for persons over 65 and situated on rented land. This bill and another which would allow one free license tag per household for those 65 and over in the state failed to pass, but Cassibry said both would be introduced in the senate again.

The group's next meeting will be held at the Friendship House Aug. 21.

For the girls

Members of the Girl Scouts Gulf Pine Council accept a donation from James M. Gambrell of the Mississippi Chemical Corporation of $2500 toward new tennis courts at Camp Ita Kana. The $10,000 courts will be the next construction project at the 339 acre camp north of Wiggins.

Girl scouts receive $2,500 for tennis courts

WIGGINS, Miss. — Gulf Pine Girl Scout Council executives and board members announced today at Camp Ita Kana, the Mississippi Chemical Corporation had made the first contribution toward future tennis courts for the camp in the amount of $2,500.

The tennis courts will be the next construction project at the 339 acre camp located eight miles north of Wiggins. The courts will cost in excess of $10,000.

James M. Gambrell, General Manager of Mississippi Chemical Corporation's Bayou Casotte plant, made the presentation to Mrs. Charles Torres of Moss Point, a member of the Council's Board of Directors and Chairman of the Camp Committee. Following the presentation he officially dedicated the tennis court area by serving the first ball to Becky Torres, Camp Counselor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Torres.

Approximately 30 Jackson County Girl Scouts from Ocean Springs, Gautier, Pascagoula and Moss Point areas observed the presentation and dedication. Gambrell told them it was a great privilege for Mississippi Chemical Corporation to participate in the development program of the twelve year old camp.

"It is very evident that funds provided for this camp have been utilized to the maximum and under a well programmed Master Plan. We consider this a very worthy project and pledge our continued support," he said.

Accompanying the General Manager was Mississippi Chemical Corporation's Public Relations Director, Louis Fortenberry.

In appreciation for their support, Mrs. Torres and Mrs. William Fairley, Executive Director of Gulf Pine Council, presented an engraved plaque to the plant manager. Both ladies spoke on behalf of the more than 3,000 young girls who annually enjoy camping at Ita Kana, the Board of Directors and hundreds of volunteers and stated that without the support of private enterprise, concerned private citizens, and their contributions, the camp's growth would have been impossible.

Let's put 16 years of experience back to work.

Here's a partial list of what I want to do:

ONE:

INTEREST FORGIVENESS

To work to obtain interest forgiveness of the Governor's Emergency Council loan for both Hancock County and the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland. This can result in a savings of approximately $400,000.00 to the taxpayers.

TWO:

GASOLINE TAXES

To work toward reducing gasoline taxes. At the present time our tax is higher than in any other coastal county. This can and should be lowered.

THREE:

EDUCATION

To work toward an improved educational system, with particular emphasis on special education. Additionally, to bring teacher salaries to a level comparable at least with our neighboring states.

FOUR:

REHABILITATION

To work for the improvement of penal and mental health institutions throughout the state and toward the creation of more and finer facilities for juveniles and for the mentally retarded or handicapped.

FIVE:

GOOD GOVERNMENT

To work for the improvement of all phases of state government. To support and encourage sound economic principles and the types of spending that will in fact bring the greatest value in return to the taxpayer. And to work to improve the lines of communication between the legislature and the people.

He's been there.

Ole Miss adds American study

A new degree program in American studies will be implemented next semester at the University of Mississippi with an introductory course which will focus on "moments" of the American experience.

Social, intellectual and cultural ideas will be studied in the 42-hour major through courses in anthropology, art, English, history, journalism, music, philosophy and religion, political science, sociology, speech and theatre.

"This program will provide a study of American culture from an interdisciplinary viewpoint whereby a student majoring in political science, for example, doesn't become a specialist in political science and not know what's going on in art, history or philosophy," said Dr. Gerald Walton, associate dean of liberal arts.

The major is comprised of two introductory courses and a senior seminar, with the remaining 33 hours selected from a minimum of five departments.

First courses will focus on specific "moments" of the American experience in their broadest possible context, such as the manifestation of nationalism in the American revolutionary era, impact of the frontier period on American art and politics, literature during the antebellum period, and maturation of American culture at the close of the 19th century.

Informal safety, health inspections being offered businesses by state

Employers now may obtain without cost the help and advice of state health and safety inspectors to help them understand and comply with federal safety and health standards, the Mississippi State Board of Health announced today.

Dr. Alton B. Cobb, director, State Board of Health, said that this agency has signed a contract with the U. S. Department of Labor's Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) to provide these gratis consultation services.

Under the contract, Dr. Cobb said, there will initially be three highly qualified state health and safety experts to assist on request with employers at their place of business, explain OSHA standards that may apply, and detail other OSHA requirements.

Priority will be given to employers with smaller businesses, Dr. Cobb said, and to those with particularly hazardous operations.

The priority system is designed to give help first to those employers who do not have the resources to employ their own full-time safety expert, or to hire a consultant, he added.

Secretary of Labor John T. Dunlop said the agreement specifies that OSHA and the state will share the costs of the program on a 50-50 basis and that no fee be charged the employer.

Secretary Dunlop emphasized that the consultation visits will not trigger a formal OSHA inspection. On request to the state, a consultant will visit an employer's establishment, conduct an opening conference, walk through the establishment identifying any existing hazards, the standards which apply and suggesting means to eliminate the hazards and conduct a closing conference. With a few days, a written report summarizing the consultant's findings and recommendations will be sent to the employer.

The contract also provides that state consultants require employers to eliminate hazards which could reasonably be expected to cause death or serious physical harm. Similar to procedures for OSHA inspections, state consultants also are required to keep confidential any trade secrets or proprietary information they learn of during their visits.

Dr. Cobb said that formal inspections by OSHA of an establishment that has used the consultant service will be conducted independently of the consultation visit. He said that during subsequent OSHA compliance visits, the OSHA inspector will not be bound by the advice of the consultant or by the failure of the consultant to point out a specific hazard.

League official claims collusion

By DAVID PIERSON
Echo Sports Editor

A Senior Babe Ruth League official said Sunday that he was "disgusted by the evident collusion" between two of the league coaches to stack the all-star team with their players and to "almost exclude" two other teams from the all-star selections.

The charge of collusion follows the selection last week of the five-team league's all-star team in which 14 of the 18 positions were filled by players from the Pass Christian Steelers and the Long Beach Maroons. The Bay St. Louis Diamondhead baseball team, which led the league most of the season and then finished in a second place when they dropped two of their last three games, received one all-star pick. The Harrison Central Red Rebels also received just one pick.

Jim McCarthy, secretary

treasurer for the league, said he had evidence that at least two of the coaches collaborated on their all-star picks "for the purpose of electing their boys to the exclusion of others, regardless of ability and record."

Apparently at least two managers agreed to vote for each other's players and to exclude two teams (Bay St. Louis and Harrison Central), McCarthy said. He said that the ballots cast by two of the coaches were identical, name for name, position for position, including the identical misspelling of a name and nomination of one boy not eligible for the position. He added that a third ballot cast by another coach matched the first two for 16 of the 18 positions, position for position, name for name, including the one ineligible. The 15 eligible were elected by that majority of three, leaving only three slots to be filled.

McCarthy also said that nominations of certain players by the coaches were "highly improbable." Among those improbable selections he cited were a .333 hitter and a .215 hitter.

Four of the top ten hitters in the league did not make the all-star team. One of those (Vic Swanner) of Pass Christian) would have been unable to play since he was going into military service, McCarthy said, but the other three (two from Harrison Central and one from Bay St. Louis) were passed over for players from the two coaches' teams.

The three passed over included Joe Ford (a .388 hitter) and Jerry Knight (a .324 hitter), both of Harrison Central, and Bay St. Louis' Arnold Fairconette (a .308 hitter).

McCarthy said he also felt Tim Favre of Bay Diamondhead, who recorded the second highest win total in the league among pitchers with a 5-2 mark, also deserved consideration.

John Tate, the Pass Christian Steeler coach who coaches the all-star team, defended the all-star picks and said it was representative of the league. "I think the best ball players are between the Maroons and the Steelers," Tate said, "since we had to vote for the players by position."

He said, however, that he wanted to vote for the players by athletic ability rather than by position. "This voting by position threw the whole thing out of kilter," he said. "There were some good ball players I would have liked to see on the team but we had to vote for them by position. But we're not a real good winning team. We may have been a little better if we had not been hamstringing to picking the players by positions, though."

When asked if there was any collusion to get his players elected to the team, Tate said,

"There wasn't any collusion, but I talked with other coaches. All the coaches talked with each other."

Tate also said he would not vote for one of the league's leading hitters because of "his attitude."

"He was cursing our players and throwing his helmet down whenever he was put out," Tate said. "Everytime we played them, he acted like that."

He said he would like to see the league officials pick the teams from now on and take that burden off the shoulders of the coaches. Tate also said he would like for future all-star teams to include quotas from all teams so that each team would be represented on the all-stars in proportion to their final standing in the league.

McCarthy had suggested that the quota system was perhaps the best way to stop two teams from dominating the all-star rosters.

"It's really sad," said McCarthy. "The Bay St. Louis boys worked hard all year. They weren't expected to win the league championship, but they led everyone 80 percent of the way. And then they end up with just one all-star selection. They deserve better."

Pass All-Stars lose first round game, 8-0

The Pass Christian 14-15 year-olds all-star team lost its first round game in the state Babe Ruth tournament being held this week in Hernando, Mississippi. The Pass Christian team lost its first round encounter with the Olive Branch All-Stars 8-0.

Cullen Swanner was charged with the loss.

Bay, Harrison advance with first round wins

The Bay St. Louis and the Harrison-Hancock All-Star teams won first round games in the district little league all-star tournament being played in Mississippi City.

The Bay team, behind the strong pitching of Andrew Haas, eliminated the Pass Christian All-Stars 8-2, and the Harrison-Hancock All-Stars nipped the Gulfport American All-Stars 9-3 with a pair of runs in the last inning.

The two teams will meet at 7 p.m. this evening at the Handsboro Field in Mississippi City in the quarter-finals of the district tournament. The district winner will advance to the state finals to play the Jackson district winner Monday.

The state winner will play in the regional tournament scheduled for mid-August at St. Petersburg, Florida.

To the Editor:

If David Pierson, sports editor for the Sea Coast Echo, is such an authority on baseball, he should have tried to get the baseball commissioner's job, too bad, they just voted him in for seven years.

I for one, as a fan and not an expert on baseball, thought that Bay-Diamondhead had a real good baseball team, and I believe that if David Pierson asked any of the young men who played against them, they would tell him that Bay-Diamondhead is not a Cinderella Team.

I think the people of Bay St. Louis and Waveland should be proud of the young men who played on the Bay-Diamondhead team.

David Pierson used the power of the pen and the freedom of the press, to run down some fine young men who played their hearts out to bring a little prestige to our community.

I think that David Pierson and the Sea Coast Echo owes these young men an apology for the article that appeared in the July 17th issue.

Sincerely,

The win moved the Expos one-half game ahead of the first round champion Gulf National Bank Cards who were idle.

The league-leading Expos scored their first run when Steve Seymour singled home Rodney Carr with two out in the second. In the third, the Expos added an unearned run, taking advantage of two errors, and then in the fifth Mike Pendergrast slammed his second home run of the year, a two-run shot, that guided the Expos to a three-run inning.

Rodney Carr of the Expos went three-for-three to lead all hitters.

As every education, All-Star teams have become overrated, but if a manager is to pick an all-star team to represent his team, he should be taken to make sure that the team is representative of the league and not just the wishes of a handful of people.

Actually there is no "fair" way to pick an all-star team. Once someone starts classifying people, saying one is better than another, there is bound to be disagreement. However, leaving the job to statistics has a way of settling most arguments. Numbers are generally accepted as better guidelines than people's opinions. For instance, Red Carew was the best hitter in baseball last year because he had the best batting average. Hank Aaron is the game's leading home run hitter because of his career total of roundtrippers.

League championships and presidents are decided by numbers—games won, games lost, votes for, votes against—why shouldn't players be judged accordingly?

Leaving the whole matter of all-star selection up to the coaches is tempting. Coaches tend to overrate their own players and play down the accomplishments of their opposition. The all-star team selected by the coaches this year magnifies that fact quite dramatically.

Of the top 18 hitters in the Senior Babe Ruth League, six did not make the all-star team. With the exception of the 100th Anniversary team, which was unavailable for the all-star team because of military duty, those players not making the team came, invariably, from the Bay-Diamondhead and Harrison Central baseball teams.

The coaches of those two teams complained that there was collusion among the other coaches to keep their players off the team. The statistics appear to bear that out.

It should be remembered that the Senior Babe Ruth League all-star team does not belong to one city or two but to the entire West Gulf Coast, and the league should represent that with a sprinkling of players from all teams.

If the top 18 hitters in the league would have been selected to the all-star team, the distribution of players would have been more equitable. The three top teams in the league—Pass Christian, Bay St. Louis, and the Long Beach Maroons—would have received five picks each. Harrison Central and Long Beach Blues would have gotten two all-stars each.

The pitching on the all-star team would not be hurt by selecting the top 18 hitters, nor would the defense. The best athletes at the high school level can usually perform well in all three facets of the game. The best hitters usually perform at least adequately on defense, and the pitchers are usually among the best hitters in the league.

Using the top 18 hitters system, the all-star pitching staff would include Ricky White and Tim Berry of the Long Beach Maroons, Myron Cook of Pass Christian, and Tim Favre of Bay St. Louis. With the exception of Favre, the pitching staff is the same as the one selected by the coaches.

Establishing quotas for each team would be another way to select a representative all-star team with, say, five all-stars from the first place team and four from the second and so on, and three open slots to pick up other players who are deserving.

The whole incident with the identical ballots, and the domination of the all-star roster by two teams should serve as an early education to some players who were "deserving" of being selected but weren't chosen. These unselected players, at a young age, have learned that not everything in life is judged on how well you perform. Sometimes these things are decided by "the powers that be," with little or no consideration given to your own performance.

It's not democratic, but it's the way things are.

THIS WEEK'S QUIZ: Last week a Bay St. Louis Little League had its second straight no-hitter. This feat has been achieved once before in the major league ranks. Do you know who it was?

Answer to the last quiz: No major league team has ever come from three games back to win the world series. Five teams have come back from two games down to win the series.

KERRY GEROUX

Babe Ruth Player of the Week

The Bay St. Louis Babe Ruth Player of the Week is Kerry Geroux of the American Legion team coached by Cliff Sivori and Billy Breland.

The 13-year-old Geroux was chosen this week after being in contention for the honors on several other occasions. Last week Kerry pitched a sterling five-hit 9-8 win against Rotary in the season finale. The mound win was Geroux's fourth of the year. American Legion won a total of six games during the season. He also shares the team's catching chores and has been a steady defensive player behind the plate.

Those receiving honorable mention are as follows: Dwayne LaFontaine, Don Strong, and Johnny Kersanac of Coast Electric; Randy Reighiter, Gary Sotak, Al Almond, and Kevin McCaleb of Dixie Realty; Kerry Corr, Greg Forstall, and Greg Hutson of the Rotary Club; and Tony Rabateau, Greg Hammer, and Jeff Wallace of the American Legion.

Electric claims second

Coast Electric pulled out a one-run victory over the league champion Dixie Realty baseball team and the American Legion trimmed the Rotary team in another one-run contest as the Electricians finished in second place in the Bay St. Louis Junior Babe Ruth League.

Coast Electric... 8
Dixie Realty... 7

Coast Electric struck for five runs in the bottom of the fifth inning to edge out the league champion Dixie Realty baseball team last Wednesday in the season finale for both teams.

The Electricians trailed 5-3 going into the bottom half of the fifth inning when Realty pitching walked home one run to make the score 5-4. Johnny Kersanac then ripped a bases-loaded triple to chase home the go-ahead runs, and he later scored on a wild pitch to clinch the win.

M. Richerson was the winning pitcher, and M. Kevin took the loss.

Dixie Realty 30102-7100
Coast Electric 111050-842

American Legion... 9
Rotary... 3

Rotary scored six runs in the third inning but still fell to the American Legion in the final game of the Junior Babe Ruth League season.

Tony Rabateau clubbed out a pair of singles for the winners, and Kerry Corr collected two hits for the Rotary team.

Greg Hammer drove in the eventual tying run of the game and scored the winning run on an error by an outfielder in the third inning.

Kerry Geroux was the winning pitcher, and Kerry Corr was the loser.

Bay, Harrison advance with wins

A single, and Hutson followed with a base on balls. Glibie singled home both runs and then later scored himself on two infield outs and a passed ball.

Then in the top of the sixth, Harrison-Hancock moved back into the lead, after Cornell Swannier walked, stole second, and later scored on a passed ball. Page singled and advanced to third when the Gulfport pitcher loaded the bases with a walk and a hit batsmen. Page then raced home with the eventual winning run on another passed ball.

Bollins almost keyed another Gulfport rally in the bottom of the sixth when he doubled runners to second and third with two out, but Harrison pitcher Marty Perkins settled down to get the last batter on strikes to preserve the Harrison-Hancock win.

Garriga was the losing pitcher.

Warren Herston and Bollins both gathered three hits for the losers. Bollins' three safeties included a pair of doubles.

Ira Bradley went three-for-four for the winners with one RBI.

Top motocross riders looking to in-door Jackson event in August

In-door motocrossing in the dirt is coming to Jackson on Sunday, August 10, at 1 p.m. Top motocross riders from seven states will provide thrills and spills for what promises to be one of the most colorful and exciting sports events held in the Jackson Coliseum.

Billed as the Coliseum Invitational Motocross of Champions, a $1,500 cash purse will be awarded according to local promoters of this event, Mike Morgan and John Mills.

In-door motocross races have been held in other cities, including the Houston Astrodome and the Los Angeles Coliseum, but this is a first for the southern states.

A specially laid-out track including hills, jumps, tight curves and rough terrain will call for quick reflexes, skill and ability on the part of the more than 30 riders who have accepted invitations to compete in this event. These include national riders such as Tony Wynn from Arkansas, who finished 6th overall in the Florida Series and is 26th in the nation; Scott Jordan from Louisiana, who has been invited to race in the Yamaha Super Series held in Dallas, Daytona, and the Super Bowl of Motocross in Los Angeles; Joe Wilhelm, who is present leader of the Texas Series; Doug Quigley, top rider from Pensacola, Florida; Johnny Borders, fastest rider in Alabama; Brad Triana from Bogalusa, Louisiana, who placed 5th out of 80 in the NML in Florida; and Doug Walls from Tennessee. Top Mississippi riders will include Donald Henderson; Mike Farris; Paul Hockin, of the Jackson area; Ricky Hill, Laurel and Barry Bell, Hattiesburg.

Final races will feature up to 18 riders racing at one time, only four feet from the Coliseum concrete walls, at speeds up to 60 miles per hour.

At half-time, top mini-bike riders from several southern states, all under age 15, will provide added excitement to the day's events. Tickets are available in advance from local motorcycle dealers for $3 each. At the gate, they will be available for $4.

SPORT TALK Q & A
By Charlie Henderson

Q: I've got a bet on this one. Who was the first pole vaulter to clear 18 feet? Was it Bob Seagrone or Steve Smith?

A: Neither one wins. Nor was it the Olympic champion from East Germany, Wolfgang Nordwig. The first 18-foot vaulter was a much less prominent athlete, Chris Papanicolaou of Greece, who once vaulted at San Jose State. He topped 18-0 1/4 in 1970. Once it was done, of course, others followed, which seems to happen with most athletic barriers.

Q: Now that Babe Ruth's home run record has been eclipsed by Hank Aaron, what about Walter Johnson's all-time strikeout record? Is that next?

A: Not very soon. The one with the best shot at it in the near future is the Cardinals' Bob Gibson, the only other pitcher ever to strike out over 3,000 batters. Johnson's mark is 2,508. Through the 1974 season Gibson had 3,057. He needs at least three more good years to make it, which is questionable. In the long run, the Angels' Nolan Ryan may be the best bet to break the mark.

Q: When it comes to combining economy with style, comfort and performance, the best bet in the automotive field is the new Granada. And we won't strike out when it comes to making you a better deal, at

KANTCHA KETCHUM
By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

The past week has been excellent for fresh water fishing because the tides have been falling every afternoon until late and bass and perch have been striking until dark. We have caught them at Johnson Pass, Mills Bayou, along both sides of Middle River and at Koffman Bayou up to the barricade. The water at all these places has been clear due to the falling tides.

This situation has been good for soft crabbing and floundering. There has been a bright moon which hampers both sports.

Salt water fishing has also improved. Different kinds of fish have been caught off the Legion Pier, the R.R. Bridge and down Cedar Point Way.

Boats going out to the marsh have reported good catches of speckle trout, flounders, croakers, etc.

Some speckles and mostly red fish are being caught over at Grassy Point just east of the Pine Hills Hotel in the back Bay section. Most of those catching them put over at the ramp on the DeLisle road between Wolf River and Bayou DeLisle.

It is a nice place to launch your boat and all for free. Met one party who had eleven nice reds caught at the above spot. They were using dead shrimp for bait.

Donald Harvill of Waveland was a happy boy. He caught a 103-pound gar on a gar fishing trip with his uncle Milton Bernard in Pearl River. The fish was weighed at Ladner's Seafood Market in Bay St. Louis. It was caught last Tuesday a week ago. There are plenty of gars in the waters around here but this one was exceptionally big. Donald is one of our local fishermen.

Stan Armstrong and Cortez Armstrong are strictly salt water fishermen. Stan is from Pineville, La. while Cortez hails from Bogalusa, La. They do a lot of fishing in this section. Come over quite often and catch their share of fish. They are boosters for the Gulf Coast.

It is with much sorrow I report the death last Wednesday of Teddy Stechmann, July 16th. Teddy did quite a bit

"What does 'Shag' Pyron have against Mississippi?"

Already this year "Shag" Pyron, our present Southern District Highway Commissioner, has spent almost two dollars with out-of-State contractors for every single dollar he has spent in Mississippi.

Mississippians have always done an honest day's work for an honest day's pay. "Shag's" record of handling your tax dollars shows that he prefers not to do business with hard-working, honest Mississippians. Instead, he favors his out-of-State political cronies. In 1975 he let contracts for $48,000,000 outside Mississippi compared to $26,000,000 inside the State.

If you're like most people in Mississippi, you're tired of being "Shagged" around by Pyron, who also built for himself with your tax dollars a $304,000 interchange on I-55 leading to his family's farm.

Tom Stennis is a man we can trust in charge of our highways. Tom Stennis needs your help to serve as your next Highway Commissioner. It's time for a new man and honest use of your tax money. Trust Tom Stennis...you'll get good roads...honestly!

Trust Tom Stennis
For Highway Commissioner
"You'll get good roads...honestly!"

Tom Stennis points out another reason why your present Highway Commissioner wants to remain unknown to you—the voters of the Southern Highway District.

VOTE FOR HENRY J. PREVOU, SR. CIRCUIT CLERK OF HANCOCK COUNTY

Born and reared in Bay St. Louis, Hancock County. Son of the late Eddie T. and Rosie C. Prevou. Married for 26 years to the former Margaret Cook and father of three children, Becky, Henry J. "Chip", Jr. and Lynette, all still residing in Hancock County. I am a veteran of World War II and a member of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. I am a retired U. S. Civil Service employee and operate a small electric business. I would like to serve the people of Hancock County in this important office and to uphold it to the standard that it should be. I want to make this office one of the best and most efficient in our county. I am qualified for this office and a dedicated citizen. I humbly solicit your consideration and vote in this important election. I am trying to put an enemy party in power but, as you know, Hancock County is a large county, so if I do not see all of you please understand that I tried to do so.

Miss CoCo Hill sets quarter-mile record mark

Special to The Echo
PEARL RIVER, La. Miss CoCo Hill has laid claim to being one of the top horses competing here at Oak Downs. The filly, owned and trained by James Watson of Bay St. Louis, burned up the track Sunday to set a new 1975 meet record for the quarter-mile distance.

She was clocked in a Class A time of 23.01 seconds for the 440 yards, breaking the old mark of 23.14 set by top-rated

Blue Devil Deck on March 2. Mike Jackson, who posted five wins on the 15-race program, was aboard Miss CoCo Hill as she handily defeated an Alabama invader, Lou Hoo (23.78) in the ninth race of the day.

In her previous race, Miss CoCo Hill covered the 440 yards in Class B time of 23.61 on July 6 in beating Tall Moon (23.60).

The overall track record for 440 yards is held jointly by two horses: The famous Jack The Ripper, whose stable was in Hancock County, ran a Double A time of 22.635 seconds on April 16, 1972, and that exact time was matched by Olympia Lena on August 20, 1972.

Incidentally, Jack The Ripper also holds the 400-yard track record with a Triple A time of 20.58 seconds—and he set that mark one week after posting the 440-yard standard.

In a match between two Hancock County horses, Joe Necaise's Keokuk Kid held off Leonard Babineau's Barn Bars in a thrilling 400-yard race.

Keokuk Kid was clocked in 21.575 seconds while Barn Bars, who closed a two-length deficit to make it close at the wire, was timed in 21.59 seconds.

Sunday's results:

1) 5 furlongs, Windfield Road, 1:05.68, Walter Daspit, owner and trainer; Mike Jackson, jockey. Rashful Scholar, 1:05.72, Blazing Bill, 1:06.38.

2) 300 yards, Croken Bar, 17.115, John Cicchetto, owner and trainer; Charlie Silkwood, jockey. He's A Buzz Bar, second.

3) 350 yards, Running Bear, 19.24, Steve Robison, owner, trainer and jockey; Cornish Princess, second.

4) 250 yards, Little Wheel, 13.73, Ray McNease, owner and trainer; Ralph Shubert, jockey. Zippy Bright, 14.99.

5) 300 yards, South Dallas, 16.06, Walter Brazell, owner and trainer; Speedy Reeves, jockey. Scout, 17.09, Caramel Bug, 17.19.

6) 400 yards, Chick Everett, 21.52, Gerald Averett, owner and trainer; Mike Jackson, jockey. Tall Moon, 21.53.

7) 400 yards, Keokuk Kid, 21.575, Joe Necaise, owner; Edward Patton, trainer; Ralph Shubert, jockey. Barn Bars, 21.59.

8) 3 furlongs, Little Sixty, 37.49, T.J. Brunfield, owner and trainer; Bruce Billings, jockey. Cosmic Nell, second. Rayburn Star, third.

9) 440 yards, Miss CoCo Hill, 23.01 (NEW MEET RECORD); James Watson, owner and trainer; Mike Jackson, jockey. Lou Hoo, 23.78.

10) 350 yards, Humming Bird Express, 18.595, Ray McNease, owner and trainer; Ralph Shubert, jockey. Poppa Chick, 18.83.

11) 3 furlongs, Lost Tribe, 40.275, Eddie Zandel, owner and trainer; Steve Robison, jockey. Sgt. Streak (lost jockey).

12) 400 yards, Amber Charm, 21.39, Mike Penton and Terry Stockstill, owners; Bill Harris, trainer; Charlie Silkwood, jockey. Chapter 13, second.

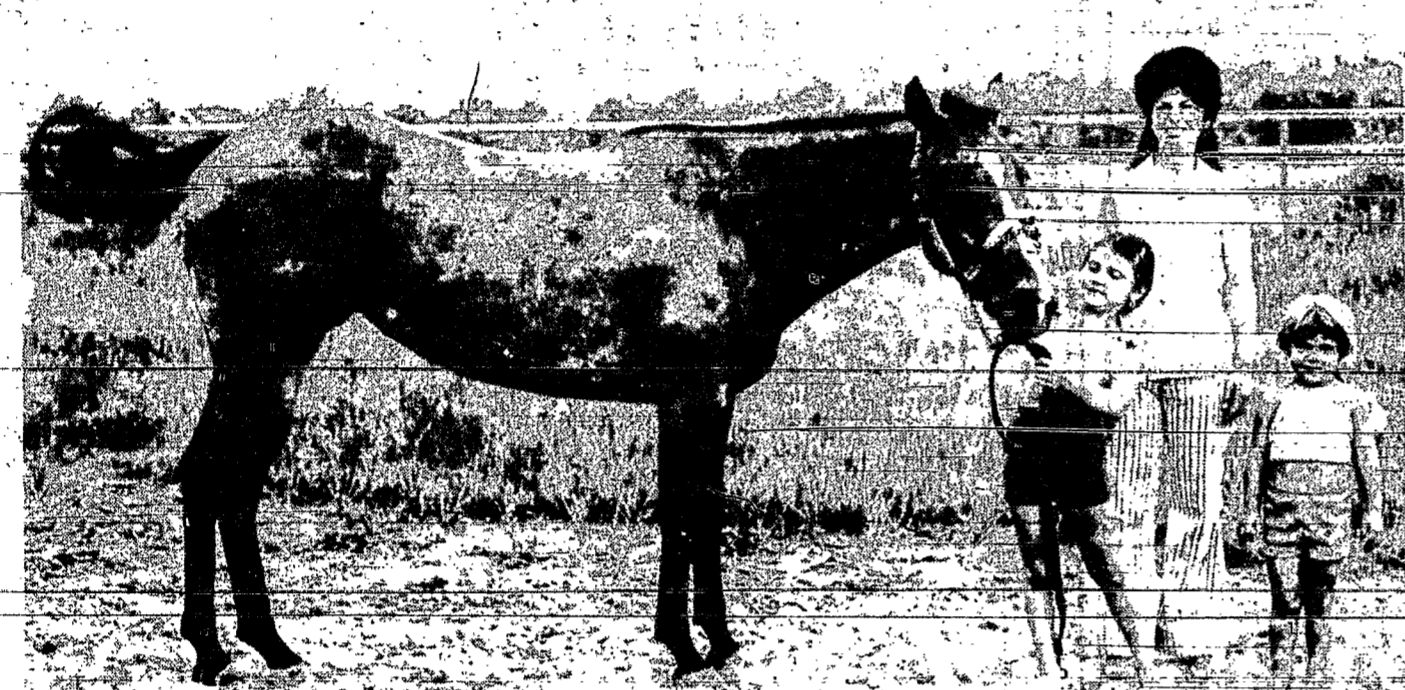

13) 220 yards, Kutter Star, 13.94, Brenda Huguet, owner; Virgil Shows, trainer; Mike Jackson, jockey. Meier D, 13.96, O.K. Model, 14.55.

14) 350 yards, Trudy, 19.30, Dub Northrop, owner; Louis Smith, trainer; Charlie Silkwood, jockey. Max Deck Inez, second.

15) 6 furlongs, Boundarounds, no time, Ted Crowe, owner and trainer; Mike Jackson, jockey. Star Signal, second.

Jenkins claims Senior League batting crown

Mark Jenkins of Pass Christian is a .429 hitter, and there can be no doubt about it. As a senior this past season with the Pass High Pirates, Jenkins claimed the Echo's Most Valuable Player trophy with a .429 batting average that led all area hitters.

Now, in the final Senior Babe Ruth League statistics released this week, Jenkins has again emerged as the batting champion with a .429 batting average.

Finishing in second place in the batting race is teammate Vic Swanier who hit at a .425 clip.

Tim Berry of the Long Beach Maroons was the league's stingiest pitcher with an earned run average of 0.32. Ricky White, also of the Maroons, chalked up the most wins in the league (six) and led the league in strikeouts with 62, which was almost an average of two fans per inning. White also distinguished himself this year by hurling two no-hitters.

Many outdoor enthusiasts enjoy camping and boating at the same time. They pack a tent, icebox, sleeping bags, a lantern and food aboard their craft and spend weekends—even extended vacations—at campsites along the shores of lakes and streams. Since space aboard most family boats is limited, it is necessary to carefully plan the type and amount of gear that goes along. To aid those who have considered trying boat camping, the outdoor recreation staff at Mercury Outboards offers some suggestions to lighten the camping load, and make an outing more enjoyable.

Bay St. Louis hosts state Babe Ruth baseball tournament

Bay St. Louis is hosting the state 13-year-old Babe Ruth baseball tournament at Tiger ball park. The tournament, which features six teams including three local ones from Pass Christian, Long Beach, and Bay St. Louis, is a double elimination affair that is set to run through Saturday night. Arlene Adams, representing the Rotary team from the Bay St. Louis league, will present the winners with the state championship trophy after Saturday's finals. The winners of the tournament advance to the regional tournament that will be held in Tennessee next week. Members on the host Bay St. Louis all-star team include:

Don Strong, Dwayne Lafont, Scott Cox, and Mike Richardson of Coast Electric; Kerry Geroux, Eric Labat, Wade Lewis, Keith Pavre, and Clark Bryant of the American Legion; Kevin McCabe, Gary Sotak, and

Andy Elchos of Dixie Realty, and David Murlagh and Mike Moore of Hancock Supply. Buford Christmas and Allen Almond are the alternates. Rand Daly is the Bay St. Louis coach, and Jack Solak is the assistant.

Ole Miss-LSU tickets still available for Tiger clash

UNIVERSITY, Miss.—Ole Miss athletic ticket manager Danny Hooker announced Thursday that only a limited number of tickets remain for the Ole Miss-Louisiana State football game in Jackson on Nov. 1. Hooker emphasized that more tickets were being made available to the Rebel following, due to a revision in the allocation of tickets to the contest by Reb officials. "Officials at LSU several weeks ago announced they had exhausted their supply of tickets," said Hooker. "But because of recent revision of ticket policies between the two schools, we have tickets available. "The allotment to LSU has been decreased because of a reduction in our allotment from Louisiana State a year ago. As a result, there are additional tickets available to the game through the Stadium Commission in Jackson and through the ticket office on campus."

Hooker said the increased number of tickets for Rebel fans would enable more Mississippians to view this fall's encounter. All tickets may be purchased on a first come, unlimited basis, all priorities having passed established deadlines. Tickets to all Ole Miss football games will be sold through the mail only until Sept. 1 when over-the-counter sales will begin.

Harrison-Hancock Stars lose in extra innings, 9-8

Gene Wahl walked in the winning run with the bases loaded and one out in the bottom of the ninth inning as the Moss Point All-Stars nipped the Harrison-Hancock All-Stars 9-8 in the Senior Little League district playoffs last week in Harrison Central. The Harrison-Hancock team jumped out to an early 5-0 lead in the second inning, but a six-run Moss Point rally set the stage for the see-saw battle that was to follow.

The local Harrison-Hancock all-stars battled back with single runs in the next three innings to take an 8-7 lead, but Moss Point rallied to tie the game, forcing the extra innings. Larry Zimmerman was credited with the win, and Wahl was charged with the loss. Danny Ladner and Wendy Cuevas led the area team in hitting with two-for-four performances. GOULASH originally meant shepherd, now it means the kind of food that Hungarian shepherds used to eat.

Charles H. Berry, the Procter & Gamble Sales Representative for this area, displays a brand new heavy duty liquid washing detergent. It can be found on grocery and supermarket shelves everywhere including automatic dishwashers and in just right test bottle. It shows the power of powder detergents and how a big job can be done with only a little. The new ERIE comes in two sizes—16 oz., 32 oz., and the giant economy size—64 oz. ERIE has many advantages. Among them are: (1) ERIE's performance is unaffected by water hardness; (2) ERIE's performance is unaffected by water temperature; (3) ERIE's performance is unaffected by water level; (4) ERIE's performance is unaffected by water level; (5) ERIE's performance is unaffected by water level; (6) ERIE's performance is unaffected by water level; (7) ERIE's performance is unaffected by water level; (8) ERIE's performance is unaffected by water level; (9) ERIE's performance is unaffected by water level; (10) ERIE's performance is unaffected by water level.

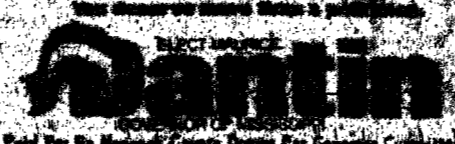

We need to cure addicts and alcoholics, not dry them out and turn them loose on society.

Drug abusers in Mississippi can end up in prison with hardened criminals. Or they may be hospitalized briefly and then released. Either way we lose. And so do they.

Maurice Dantin believes we should establish a Drug Control Center, staffed and equipped to rehabilitate addicts and alcoholics. There, with time and professional care, many lives can be reclaimed from the drug culture that threatens so many in Mississippi today.

Elect Maurice Dantin.

Reunion of champs

The Goodson deal — reunion in Atlanta

ATLANTA — It's like a family reunion for me playing here in Atlanta," new Braves infielder Ed Goodson said after being acquired in a deal that sent Craig Robinson to San Francisco.

Goodson, who had played three seasons for the Giants and had a lifetime batting average of .283, continued, "I was a Braves fan through my kid days. I lived for 14 years in Richmond — where the Braves AAA farm team was much of the time — and I always hoped to play for Atlanta someday while I was growing up. Jim Beauchamp was one of my big favorites in Richmond, and I had a big interest in some other players who made it to the Braves."

Goodson's wife agrees with her husband's delight in being in Atlanta.

"My wife and kids wouldn't come to San Francisco this season," he noted. "They hated it there, and they love Atlanta. I'm really happy to be here."

The attitude of the big blond first and third baseman is a relief after what Dick Allen displayed when his contract belonged to the Braves.

However, Goodson has good reason for wanting to play in the South. Not only did he grow up in Richmond, he attended East Tennessee State University.

He had the reputation as the best pure hitter on the Giants ball club. And although his fielding was not considered top notch, he was showing vast improvement and is still young at age 27. Last season he hit over .300 while playing as a regular from April through July. But he dropped off the remainder of the season while injured.

He was an All-American in college and has a degree in biology from ETSU.

He was the Giants' first choice in the June, 1968, draft.

But you didn't know that Phil Niekro has one green eye and one blue eye.

When ever the big league Braves slip up on the field, they better watch out because the minor leagues have some outstanding prospects who look like they're close to being ready to make it. At Richmond, pitchers Preston Hanna, Mickey Maher and Pablo Torrealba are having outstanding seasons while pitchers Bobby Hoy, Don Collins (of Lyons, Ga.) and Mike Davey have been exceptional at Savannah.

Other names to watch crop up with the big league Braves in the near future are infielders Pat Rockett, Junior Moore, and Reggie Sanders, outfielders Brian Aselstine and Jimmie Collins, and catcher Joe Nolan.

Buzz Capra gets the Braves vote for the "Good Guy of the Year Award." Recently, Capra was working out at the Stadium when a lady called the Braves and asked that a player come to see a youngster with a brain tumor. Immediately, Capra dropped what he was doing and drove 20 miles to visit with the boy.

The best big league bangers anywhere must be Braves general admission seating. Do you know that a child's general admission ticket to any Braves home game is just 50 cents?

Try to find a better bargain than that.

Braves first baseman Bob Beall is one of the most scholarly players in the big leagues. The gentlemanly switch-hitter's hobbies are listening to classical music and reading poetry.

PATIENCE PAYS OFF

Experienced bass anglers rely upon the common crayfish as a bait that will put fish on their stringers almost any time of the year. It seems that no matter what condition the water is — whether murky, clear, warm or cool — bass find crayfish an irresistible bait, a delicacy they can't pass up.

Hooking bass with crayfish calls for patience, as the fishing experts at Mercury outboards recently learned. Their technique is to let the fish run with the bait rather than set the hook immediately. This is difficult for many anglers to do, because for years they've been striking hard when a fish is on the line.

Rock bluffs and points off the mouths of coves are favorite bass hangouts. Hook the crayfish through the tail, after having removed his pincers to stop him from crawling under a rock and staying there.

At the first sign of a fish, re-spool your reel and let the line run out easily between your fingers. As you watch it disappear the tension begins to build. The urge to strike is more than some anglers can resist, and they seldom hook the fish at this time.

When the fish begins to move again, it's a good bet he's swallowed the crayfish. Now is the time to set the hook, and if you've played the game for years, you're in for some fast action.

ELECT RINGER "RAY" STIGLET

SUPERVISOR
BEAT 4
HANCOCK COUNTY

HONEST AND CAPABLE

I would like to take this opportunity to convey a better understanding of my 1975 platform for the candidacy of Supervisor of Beat 4 in Hancock County.

Through this message, I hope to reach every voter and let them know how I feel about the needs in Beat 4. I regret that it's not possible to meet every voter and talk to them personally concerning my platform.

My platform is as follows:

1. Efficiency, honesty and integrity in county government.
2. Industry promotion in order to have more high paying jobs right here in our county so it will not be necessary for our young people to leave our county in search of jobs.
3. Special emphasis on school improvements.
4. Tourist attractions to bring money into our community due to the by-passing of Bay St. Louis by Interstate 10.
5. No bond issues without a vote of the people.
6. Cooperate with all agencies to provide aid to the aged.
7. Better upkeep of beaches for our community and tourist trade.
8. Improve and repair county roads and drainage.
9. Pay county employees a livable wage.
10. Better communication between Board of Supervisors and County citizens.
11. Devote full time to the job.

These things can be made possible by working together.

YOUR SUPPORT AND VOTE WILL BE GREATLY APPRECIATED.

Lifelong resident of Hancock County, married to the former Carol Speer and have one son, Jeffrey.

KANTCHA KETCHUM
By L. S. (Don) Elliott

There are numerous bays running off the bay which are fantastic for bass fishing.

Have you ever used Bullgramm (Dodon Fly) for green trout fishing? This black aquatic insect is widely used as black bass bait and can be found hiding under large rocks in clear streams about the same time bass are biting. The average size is about 2 inches long. He looks vicious but is easily caught and handled.

Jack Crevalle is another fish caught around here out front in the Bay and inland waters. Average weight is about a pound, but runs to 20 pounds. The flavor of the Jack Crevalle is considered only fair for eating. Saw a big one which was caught off the Dunbar Pier last week.

James F. George and his wife of Thousand Island, New York have been visiting his father, Jimmy George for the past week. They got in some fishing while south.

Martin Blanchard said he has too many little things to do to go fishing. Martin used to go fishing. Old age will do a lot of things to us.

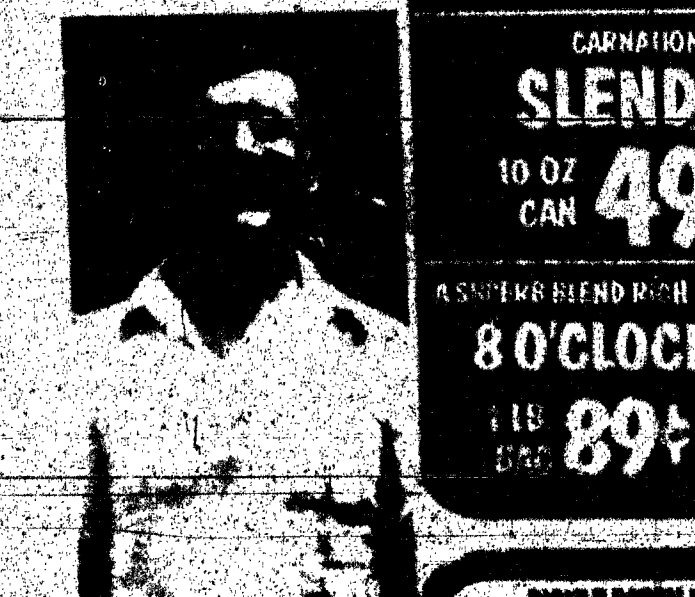

When fly fishing, it is important that the line is rigid, no belly in it. Makes hooking a fish easier and more positive. Greasing the line occasionally keeps the bug floating better. Try it, it pays off.

Wop (Homer) Ray Garner and yours truly made a wonderful catch of green trout last Thursday up Pearl River way. They were striking like nobody's business. Wop has a boat with electric motor out of this world, which he shares with his friends.

Was a pleasure talking to Mr. and Mrs. Chet Goodyear from Gulfport. They do mostly salt water fishing. Had a bad day last Monday. Only caught some flounders. No specks they said.

Flounders are being caught most everywhere. Those fishing at Grassy Point over by the Pine Hills Hotel reported catching lots of them, mostly on dead bait.

Ed Estrada was telling us of catching bass out at the marsh. Ed is strictly a salt water fisherman but has gone

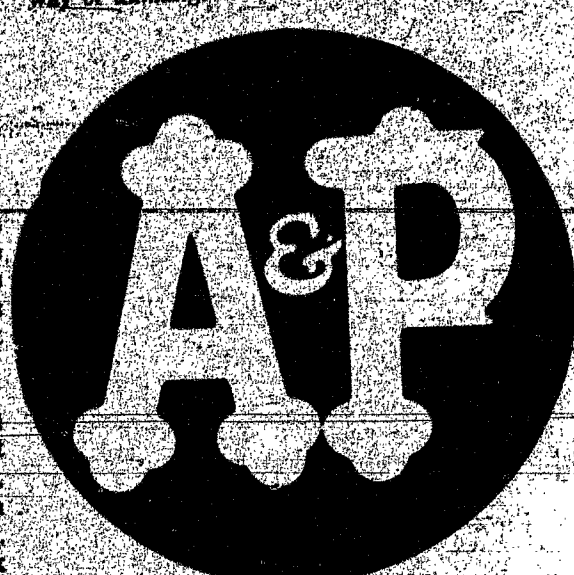

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK Joe Ladd, Jr. of Bay St. Louis, Miss. is the winner of the weekly fishing contest. He caught a 14 1/2 lb. bass on a live shrimp. He also caught a 12 lb. crabs and a 10 lb. blue crab. He was fishing at Grassy Point over by the Pine Hills Hotel.
